Nation Pauses To Honor War Dead

By The Associated Press

They honored Northern Civil War dead in Georgia, held a ceremony on Adm. Dewey's flagship and laid the presidential wreath in a pine-scented cathedral Sunday in Memorial Day observances.

All over the nation, bands marched and speakers paid public tribute to those who fought and died for their country.

In the hallowed ground of Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, small flags flapped gently in the breeze over each of the 130,800 graves.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, represented President Johnson — weekending at his Texas ranch — at the traditional wreath-laying at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The cemetery is the resting place of Americans who fought in the nation's wars — from 1776 to Korea. It also contains bodies of those who took part in such conflicts as the Indian campaigns and the present Viet Nam war.

Thousands of persons visited Arlington Cemetery to pay homage to the dead there. Many were in family-size groups to lay wreaths on the graves of loved ones, many were there to join there ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. By the end of the day, some 50,000 people had visited the cemetery.

Gen. Johnson, as President Johnson's representative at the principal wreath-laying, quoted from the President's letter appointing him to the Memorial Day task:

"...We pay honor both to our distinguished war dead and to those who selflessly gave our nation a lifetime of dedicated service. Our liberty and security stand in endless debt to those we honor on Memorial Day and to their survivors."

At Marietta National Cemetery in Georgia, Daughters of the Confederacy and Sons of Confederate Veterans placed wreaths honoring Union soldiers buried there.

A squadron of planes flew overhead, showering rose petals on the graves.

Chicago members of the two Confederate organizations paid tribute to more than 6,000 Confederate soldiers buried at Oak Woods Cemetery in Chicago. They died while imprisoned at Camp Douglas.

In Philadelphia, Mayor James Tate stood on the deck of Adm. Dewey's old Spanish-American War flagship, the USS Olympia, and received a plaque for his efforts to keep the historic vessel in Philadelphia. A wreath was tossed from the cruiser's fantail into the Delaware River.

Representatives of President Johnson and all states and territories placed wreaths at the Altar of the Nation in Cathedral of the Pines, Rindge, N.H.

The altar is called the National War Memorial for All American Dead and is an interdenominational place of worship.

In St. Louis, the Civil Air Patrol air-dropped flowers over two observances and the Coast Guard floated a flower-covered raft down the Mississippi to honor persons lost at sea.

A handful of inmates at Utah State Prison will walk Monday to a tiny cemetery nearby to decorate the graves of 26 unclaimed prisoners.

Twenty-five of the men died years ago in Utah's State and Territorial Prison, then located at Sugar House, now Salt Lake City.

Ceremonies Monday also will be conducted on a concrete memorial erected over the sunken hull of the USS Arizona at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, scene of the Japanese attack in 1941.

Gemini Leak Casts Doubt Over Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Technicians discovered Sunday that the Gemini 4 spacecraft had sprung a leak, casting a shadow of doubt over plans for a Thursday launching of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II on a four-day space journey.

The leak appeared to be the most serious of several nagging frustrations, including a broken undersea cable which transmit data between Cape Kennedy and downrange tracking stations, and high seas thwarting attempts to repair it.

The Gemini 4 flight is planned to be the longest yet for the U. S. space program, and includes other firsts: an attempt to maneuver close to the spent, second-stage booster in the world's first space rendezvous, and a walk in space by White at the end of a golden tether.

The leak was discovered early Sunday as technicians pored over data from Saturday's dress rehearsal — a four-hour compressed version of the flight in which McDivitt and White, both Air Force majors, ran through the mission highlights.

By noon, technicians were poking into the innards of Gemini 4, trying to isolate the leak, and determine whether it would be necessary to unbolt the spacecraft from the booster to make repairs.

The leak was in the water management system. This system provides drinking water for the astronauts, and water to cool the spacecraft during the launch and the initial orbital phase of the flight.

One spokesman said the water system lost 32 pounds of water overnight.

There was speculation that a puncture might have occurred last week when the spacecraft was lifted off the booster to replace a faulty battery cell.

Out in the Atlantic, nine miles south of the Bahamian island of San Salvador, at small cable repair ship was rolling in high seas that prevented it from beginning the cable repair job.

The cable runs about 1,500 miles between the Cape and the West Indies island of Antigua. Several tracking stations in the Bahamas are linked to it.

The break occurred in 3,000 feet of water. There was a suspicion that constant rubbing across sharp coral caused the break.

An official of Underseas Cable Corp. said he was confident the break could be repaired in time for Thursday's launch. But the 166-foot Omega found it couldn't handle the situation alone.

When the high winds and seas subside, the Omega will begin grappling for the broken cable ends. Meanwhile, the 438-foot USS Thor has left Portsmouth, Va., for the scene. It is expected Thursday — launch day for Gemini 4.

The cable is needed for the landing and recovery phase of the flight, which gives the repair crews added time. However, space agency officials said radio could be used to relay the information, instead of the cable.

Reds 'Dig In' For Massive Viet Assault

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U. S. military spokesman said Sunday two North Vietnamese battalions are reported dug in at Quang Ngai 65 miles southeast of Da Nang, where a major Communist offensive appears to be under way.

Meanwhile, U. S. Air Force jets blasted an ammunition depot 45 miles southwest of Hanoi. They encountered heavy antiaircraft fire but no Communist aircraft in the closest air strike yet made to the North Vietnamese capital.

The American spokesman said the North Vietnamese battalions were digging in between Ba Gia village and Ha Thanh, 10 miles west of Quang Ngai city. Both battalions were reported facing Ba Gia, which has been under attack for two days. Elements of one South Vietnamese battalion were reported virtually wiped out Saturday, just outside Ba Gia.

The 39th Vietnamese Ranger Battalion and 3rd Vietnamese Marine Batttalion were thrown into the fighting Sunday. Casualties were understood to be heavy on both sides.

Committing the 3rd Marines to fighting meant that the 1st Army Corps, whose responsibility is South Viet Nam's five northernmost provinces, was without any reserves.

Some army sources said it appeared likely that the Viet Cong would launch another assault elsewhere in the area, realizing that the Vietnamese were fully committed.

In announcing the air raid against North Viet Nam, U. S. military spokesmen in Saigon said all planes returned safely.

Sixteen F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers dropped 40 tons of bombs on the ammunition depot, at Hoai An, in a 10-minute raid. Pilots reported 60 per cent of the target area was destroyed and other parts moderately damaged. Other jet fighters flew support for the bomb-laden F105s.

The closest previous strike to Hanoi since the United States began air aids in February was on May 22 when 90 U. S. Air Force jets bombed the Quang Suoi military barracks about 55 miles due south of Hanoi.

Battles raged throughout five provinces from Quang Tri, barely 20 miles south of the border with Communist North Viet Nam, to Quang Nagi, about 180 miles south of the 17th parallel.

Heaviest of the fighting was centered at Quang Ngai, but there were fears this was a Viet Cong diversionary effort and that the main blow was still to come nearer the border.

U. S. Air Force jets took to the air despite poor weather conditions in an effort to assist beleaguered Vietnamese ground forces.

The huge U. S.-Vietnamese air base at Da Nang, a major launch site for air strikes against North Viet Nam and against the guerrillas in South Viet Nam's northern areas, is at the hub of the new Communist activity.

'As Quickly As Possible'

Dominican Rebels Urge Removal Of Peace Force

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The rebel government called Sunday for the withdrawal of the new inter-American peace force "as quickly as possible."

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno's so-called "constitutionalist" regime denounced the force in a letter to the Organization of American States while thousands of his supporters paraded in downtown Santo Domingo.

The demonstration marked, in part, the fourth anniversary of the assassination of dictator Rafael L. Trujillo, who ruled this nation with an iron fist for 31 years. The rebel supporters also attended Masses at downtown Roman Catholic churches in memory of rebels who died since the revolt began April 24.

In a letter to the OAS foreign ministers in Washington, Caamano's foreign minister, Dr. Jottin Cury, said the presence of foreign troops violated the OAS charter which he said prohibits military intervention "regardless of motive."

And in a jeering comment on the present composition of the inter-American force — 18,400 U.S. Marines and paratroopers and 1,500 Latin troops — Cury added: "So far no one has been able to establish a difference between the (U.S.) interventionists and the Organization of American States."

Cury also continued the rebel attack on Dr. Jose A. Mora, OAS secretary-general whom President Johnson has described as the principal peacemaker in the Dominican Republic. He called Mora "partial" to the United States and the rival civilian-military junta, even though the junta also has sharply criticized Mora.

Cury said: "The impression (in the report) of progressive advance toward the normalization of the economic life of the country, reflecting only in part the authentic Dominican reality today, hides the vigorous resistance with which our people continue to show their unbreakable faith in the reconquest of sovereignty and constitutionality."

Cury warned that disease might break out because garbage collection has been halted. Many people burn garbage in the street.

Sediment Clogs Pipes Of Homes In Chester

A number of Chester homes were without water Sunday night because of sediment-clogged service lines resulting from the weekend cleaning of a 10-inch main from the city reservoir to 9th St.

Crews completed cleaning of the main Saturday night and worked at clearing several service lines to homes in the Pan Ave. district.

Sediment from the main clogged water meters and smaller lines, authorities said. These will be cleared Monday or Tuesday, they added. Temporary repairs were made to a broken main at 2nd St. and Virginia Ave.

Fear Voiced For Record Traffic Toll

Multiple Deaths In Wrecks Move Total Up Relentlessly

By The Associated Press

Multiple deaths in automobile accidents moved the death toll upward relentlessly Sunday and a National Safety Council official said the toll could be the worst three-day Memorial Day weekend since records were begun.

The toll was running about 40 per cent ahead of last year's pace.

With fair weather bringing thousands of motorists onto the road for the 78-hour holiday weekend, the death toll stood at 293.

The death count began at 6 p. m. local time Friday. It ends at midnight Monday.

The National Safety Council had estimated that the traffic death toll might be between 430 and 510.

"The toll looks certain to be on the upper end of our estimate," said Howard Pyle, president of the safety council.

"It is conceivable," he said, "that it could be the worst Memorial Day weekend on record unless motorists change their driving pattern."

On a desolate stretch of desert highway south of Needles, Calif., a 12-year-old girl was the only survivor of a headon crash that took six lives Saturday.

In a grim parallel, two cars smashed together Sunday with such force that they had to be pulled apart by tow trucks on U.S. 395 in the high Sierra foot hills south of Lone Pine, Calif. Five persons were killed. The only survivor was an 8-year-old girl.

In the other accident, three men and two women, all San Jose residents, died in a grinding crash on a freeway north of San Jose.

A young couple who planned to be married next month were among five persons killed in a collision near upper Sandusky, Ohio Saturday night.

Just outside Gallatin, Tenn., five teen-age boys were killed in a two-car collision. Near Grand Island, Neb., three 16-year-old boys and a 26-year-old truck

POLICE SAID the mishap occurred on Moore St. 100 feet east of Claiborne St.

Landfried told officers he had just pulled out of a parking spot on Moore St. when he heard a child scream. He stopped and discovered the boy was lying underneath the car, near the left front wheel, he said. He said he had not seen the youngster before he found him under the auto.

The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fullerton of Pittsburgh. They said they saw the child running on the sidewalk on the north side of the street "and the next thing they saw him under the car," police reported. The couple related that they did not know how the boy got under the car.

TWO OTHERS were injured less severely in separate mishaps Saturday afternoon and night in the downtown area and in Klondyke, police said.

Mrs. Gladys Claypool, 56, of Akron was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the right leg and thigh suffered in a two-way collision Saturday at 1:52 p.m. on W. 3rd St. at Jackson St.

Ellwood City Area Man Dies Of Injuries

ELWOOD CITY, PA. — Raymond Lee Crowl, 22, of Ellwood City R.D. 2 died Sunday at 5:35 a.m. at City Hospital here from injuries suffered in a one-car crash about four hours earlier on Route 288, a half-mile west of Zelienople, according to the Pennsylvania State Police at Chippewa Township.

Officers said Crowl suffered a possible skull fracture, fracture of the left leg and brain injuries when his car went off the highway on a slight curve and crashed into a utility pole.

'As Quickly As Possible'

Dominican Rebels Urge Removal Of Peace Force

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The rebel government called Sunday for the withdrawal of the new inter-American peace force "as quickly as possible."

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno's so-called "constitutionalist" regime denounced the force in a letter to the Organization of American States while thousands of his supporters paraded in downtown Santo Domingo.

The demonstration marked, in part, the fourth anniversary of the assassination of dictator Rafael L. Trujillo, who ruled this nation with an iron fist for 31 years. The rebel supporters also attended Masses at downtown Roman Catholic churches in memory of rebels who died since the revolt began April 24.

In a letter to the OAS foreign ministers in Washington, Caamano's foreign minister, Dr. Jottin Cury, said the presence of foreign troops violated the OAS charter which he said prohibits military intervention "regardless of motive."

And in a jeering comment on the present composition of the inter-American force — 18,400 U.S. Marines and paratroopers and 1,500 Latin troops — Cury added: "So far no one has been able to establish a difference between the (U.S.) interventionists and the Organization of American States."

Cury also continued the rebel attack on Dr. Jose A. Mora, OAS secretary-general whom President Johnson has described as the principal peacemaker in the Dominican Republic. He called Mora "partial" to the United States and the rival civilian-military junta, even though the junta also has sharply criticized Mora.

Cury said: "The impression (in the report) of progressive advance toward the normalization of the economic life of the country, reflecting only in part the authentic Dominican reality today, hides the vigorous resistance with which our people continue to show their unbreakable faith in the reconquest of sovereignty and constitutionality."

Cury warned that disease might break out because garbage collection has been halted. Many people burn garbage in the street.

Sediment Clogs Pipes Of Homes In Chester

A number of Chester homes were without water Sunday night because of sediment-clogged service lines resulting from the weekend cleaning of a 10-inch main from the city reservoir to 9th St.

Crews completed cleaning of the main Saturday night and worked at clearing several service lines to homes in the Pan Ave. district.

Sediment from the main clogged water meters and smaller lines, authorities said. These will be cleared Monday or Tuesday, they added. Temporary repairs were made to a broken main at 2nd St. and Virginia Ave.

Mountain Outpost In South Viet

By HAL BOYLE

A SHAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — We were on our way to Sniperville.

That's what the aerial supply crews call this mountain outpost on the Laotian border 51 miles west of Da Nang.

"This is the hottest place we come into," said the navigator, Capt. Ray Perdue, 33, Roanoke, Va.

"For the last month every time one of our planes has landed or taken off here it has been hit. The elephant grass is so deep snipers can crawl in it up to within 50 feet of the runway.

The last incident had thoroughly angered the squadron commander, Lt. Col. Harry G. Howton, Birmingham, Ala. He doesn't like to have his big unarmed C123 sky ferries shot up.

Today, flying as pilot himself, he was looking for revenge. He had brought along a couple of propeller-driven Skyraiders as close support.

Because of the sniper danger we wore thick flak vests — and sat tight. The heat was stifling in the cargo space which was crowded with 53 Vietnamese troops we were bringing to the outpost.

They looked like toy dolls dressed up as soldiers. Some giggled and looked out the windows. Others chattered like magpies. One sat alone, silently weeping, with a hand over his face to hide his tears.

"You never can be sure how they'll react to plane flight," said a crewman. "A few get really frightened and airsick.

"Now and then one will go beserk. One who did that tried to blow up the plane with his grenades, and had to be held down."

As we landed on the small airstrip we were greeted by a sign that said: "Welcome to the A Shau Hilton. Laos one mile. Hanoi 395. Detroit 12,000. New York 13,000."

As a damaged five-ton truck was being winched aboard our craft for the return trip, I talked to Lt. Gordon Walker, 26, Laurel, Md., executive officer of a 10-man U.S. Army Special Forces team. The two Skyraiders winged low over the elephant grass on the other side of the airstrip looking for targets.

"We straddle what we think is one of the chief guerrilla supply routes along the Laotian border," said Walker.

"But the Congs operate in such small groups and move around so much it is hard to locate and destroy them. Maybe two or three times a week, sometimes during the day, sometimes at night they'll sneak up, fire a few rounds, then melt back into the hills."

As we climbed aboard one of the planes and took off, the two Skyraiders made several low-level flights over the elephant grass. But there was no enemy fire.

Col. Howton seemed disappointed.

"I was hoping one or two of those snipers would lift his head," he said. "I guess we'll have to get them another day."

The conservative Mr. Burnsley (as you can see) is also very precise, neat and immaculate.

Such a particular man wants his home heating system to be as perfect as modern living should be. He wants heating that can be precisely controlled; heating that's uniform — no drafts, no hot spots; heating that's really clean.

Naturally such a perfectionist would be first in town to switch to electric heat. It's the only perfect way to heat.

At first some of Mr. Burnsley's neighbors thought he'd flipped his bowler. They don't think so anymore. Electric rates have gone down 4 times in 4 years and Mr. Burnsley's clean, comfortable, trouble-free electric heat costs little more than the old-fashioned kind.

Full Measure Of Devotion

We are mindful this Memorial Day that Americans are still risking death and losing their lives in the aftermath of the "great civil war . . . testing whether any nation . . . conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal . . . can long endure."

The "unfinished work" Abraham Lincoln spoke of at Gettysburg in 1863 still challenges us 102 years later.

We know now more clearly than our ancestors knew in 1863 that the "great task remaining before us" will never be finished; that the cause to which so many Americans have given the "last full measure of devotion" must be worked at endlessly in the United States and in the world.

If the work ever ceased, all the dead who have fallen on battlefields would have died in vain.

There would be no birth of freedom and "government of the people, by the people, for the people" surely would perish from the earth.

Let us, then, think gratefully this day not only of those who gave the "last full measure of devotion" but of those continuing the task they know will never be finished.

Let us think of them wherever they are under the guns of angry and violent opponents; wherever they symbolize the guardianship of individual freedom and human dignity; wherever they offer security and life for their country and its ideals.

We honor them in every outpost of our national influence — on the tundra of the Arctic, in the jungles of Viet Nam, the streets of Santo Domingo, the high seas, plains, veldts and mountainsides, in Europe, Asia, Latin America, Africa and the islands of the sea.

Wherever they are, they are a living token of the American ideal that no man must be beholden to another unless he wants to think of himself as a slave. He cannot be enslaved by decree.

We honor the spirit and the ideals that inspire our defenders this Memorial Day, whether they fell in battles of the past, or are risking death in the present. They are the last best hope for the future of Mankind.

Money Can Buy Buildings

The Ohio State Lantern, in a commendable enterprise of investigative reporting, has gone backstage to find out how the university's teachers are persuaded to come to the campus.

The university's goal is to hire the best teachers that can be obtained. Salaries are important, but administrative personnel pointed out to Lantern interviewers that a more important consideration is academic environment.

Top teachers want a chance to develop scholarship in their specialties. They sometimes are willing to work for less money if the academic environment is stimulating.

Environment includes such things as well-stocked libraries, stimulating personnel, the opportunity to exchange ideas with other teachers and, most important, a liberal academic atmosphere.

"Intellectual climate" is a favorite phrase among teachers.

"Academic freedom" is another.

Good teachers are disturbed by anything that suggests their thinking might be subject to critical review by non-teachers. They are fearful of everything that smacks of anti-intellectualism, because intellectualism is their only stock in trade.

The Lantern has done a valuable service to its readers on the Ohio State campus by reminding them that teachers cannot be added to the university like new buildings. As other tax-supported schools come into being, they will have the same problem. Teachers must be found, recruited, persuaded to serve.

A shortage of teachers cannot be overcome like a shortage of buildings — by merely spending money.

Protect Yourself

Breakings and enterings continue to make news in the district.

Fortunately, the thieves have been leaving without too much loot in most cases. But if more were available and it weren't overlooked, you can be sure it wouldn't be spared.

All of which adds up to another warning not to leave large sums of money around your business establishment or your home. Deposit it in a bank where it will get the protection it deserves.

A Reputation For Violence

The top news continues to be about civil disorder in Santo Domingo, but the top Latin American violence now is in Colombia, where violence is integrated in national tradition.

Violence there began nearly 20 years ago with a shift of power from Colombian Liberals to Conservatives in the 1946 elections. In 1948, it came to a head with the assassination of Jorge Caitan, a radical reformist.

In the riots that ensued, grisly atrocities were committed. Observers reported infants chopped to pieces in the presence of their mothers, prisoners pushed out of airplanes, rape turned into a routine atrocity.

For once, no one was able to pin blame on Communists or outside agitators, not even on Fidel Castro. Colombians were allowed to keep all the credit to themselves. They had achieved a reputation.

There is reason to believe Communists who have taken guerrilla training in Cuba now are on the scene and having effect, but Colombian violence still is one of the staggering realities of Latin American political affairs. It is part of the nature of the people.

The differences between Conservatives and Liberals in the political spectrum are not sharp enough to justify violence. Both parties are for land reform, encouragement of public investment public works and the American Alliance. Liberals, as the title suggests, also embrace anticlericalism, populism and agricultural reform.

But the thing to be feared in Colombia is not a political program, but another outbreak of savagery like that which occurred before and now may blaze up again if Colombia's inborn violence is ignited.

Walk With Care

The weekend injuries to two pedestrians in the area point again to the ever-increasing danger that goes with walking the highways.

The pedestrian always has had to be alert, even in the old days, but his safety problem has mounted manyfold with the advent of modern freeways.

Facing no traffic lights and few intersections, stopping is not on the motorist's mind as he takes advantage of the opportunity to make time on a two-lane stretch. Consequently, if a pedestrian suddenly appears out of nowhere, there's certain to be trouble.

And even off the freeways the situation has become more perilous as more and more cars zoom hither and yon. A pedestrian literally takes his life in his hands when he tackles the highways. Alertness is imperative at all times, especially at night when dark clothing and poor visibility complicate matters.

If you find it absolutely necessary to walk along a busy thoroughfare, do so with extreme caution.

A 'Drastic' Look At Dominican Issue

By Victor Riesel

At 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, May 25, a Dominican long distance operator rang the phone of a tense, harried man who had been waiting in hiding.

Victor Riesel

She told him his call to the national AFL - CIO headquarters in Washington could be put through. Quickly Rolando Leonard, the anti-Communist Latin American labor movement's man in Santo Domingo, spoke to his American contact, Andy McLellan.

From the rush of words pouring in from Santo Domingo, McLellan learned that the anti-Communist union headquarters, the offices of "Conatral," had been sacked. The place had been looted. The files had been pruned for select names and then burned.

That morning, according to Rolando Leonard, a man whom he knew to be a tough Communist activiat had taken control of the anti-Castro labor headquarters and kept it by virtue of an ever-ready machine gun.

I remember the "Conatral" headquarters well. I have spoken there in its open air second floor hall which once was a medical clinic.

FREEDOM-loving, anti-Communist labor leaders who introduced me to a membership meeting now are refugees.

They found asylum in the offices of the American Institute for Free Labor Development — an organization jointly operated by U.S. labor leaders and executives of 60 U.S. firms seeking to raise the living standards, especially housing, in Latin America.

Those Dominican labor leaders whom I had known had to flee their own headquarters because it is on Avenida Mella — in the rebel zone.

There was much more to the swift conversation between Senor Leonard, who for three years has been the representative of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT) and Mr. McLellan, who heads the AFL-CIO's Latin-American section. There had been many such transoceanic reports.

IT'S IMPORTANT to point out that these reports have come from labor sources, not from any political faction or from any military leaders there.

That is why the AFL-CIO high command issued a virtually ignored statement of principles on May 19 which supported U.S. intervention and said:

"The executive council, acting on reports from its own investigators on the spot, declares its unequivocal support of the measures, taken to date, by President Johnson to meet these critical situations."

These dispatches disclose conditions far more drastic then anything the White House has yet revealed.

It's the belief of Mr. McLellan and his labor colleagues that there are many scores of high-ranking, skilled Communist operatives in the Dominican Republic now.

That's far more than the 58 previously disclosed by President Johnson.

FURTHERMORE, some of them have been in the U.S. and are accomplished Communist espionage agents. This accounts for the presence of an FBI team in Santo Domingo.

In addition, the Communist apparatus now is running guns and ammunition into the mountains in preparation for assaults on any provisional government set up by the OAS.

Also, the Communists now have heavily infiltrated unions and will exert powerful influence in such strategic areas as the sugar plantations, the ports, the construction industry and the government service — unless they are immediately rooted out.

There are three powerful pro-Communist forces now in the zone, according to the U.S. labor leaders. One is pro-Peking; a second is pro-Moscow and pro-Castro; a third is simply pro-Castro.

The most powerful of these is the 14th of June Movement which has a sizeable union force ready for general strike action.

HAVING documented all this, the AFL-CIO Executive Council —though it went unnoticed—put itself on record the other day with the following:

"The crises in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo, though continents apart, are basically interrelated. They must be faced in the context of the entire world crisis.

"To date, Castro has made three attempts to intervene in Santo Domingo and foist a Communist dictatorship on the Dominican people.

"In Santo Domingo, as in Viet Nam, our country seeks only to thwart a new and most dangerous form of intervention by the fifth columns of Communist imperialism."

These are the words of men who lead 13 million American working people. In this context, what can be more significant?

A Thought For Memorial Day

When women of the South began decorating the graves of fathers, brothers, sons and husbands who had made the supreme sacrifice at the bloodiest height of the Civil War, they gave birth to a practice that later was to be observed throughout the nation as our Memorial Day.

When Northern wives, mothers, daughters, sisters and sweethearts heard what their Southern sisters were doing, they emulated their example.

By May 30, 1868, four years after the close of the war, Memorial Day was observed officially by order of Gen. John A. Logan, commander of the G.A.R.

Today Memorial Day or Decoration Day is observed in all states, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Canal Zone, Guam, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands — with the following exceptions — Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas. In Virginia the date is observed as Confederate Memorial Day.

ALABAMA, FLORIDA, Georgia and Mississippi observe April 26 as Confederate Memorial Day. North and South Carolina observe their Confederate Day, May 10 and Kentucky, Louisiana and Tennessee observe June 3.

Although, in recent years Memorial Day has been proclaimed a day of observance for the dead of all wars in which America has participated, it's inseparably connected with the Civil War, a conflict which brought a revolution in the life of America as great as the War for Independence.

When the veterans of the Confederacy returned to their homes after Appomattox they found destruction, destitution and demoralization.

Farmhouses, barns, and mills had been burned; bridges and railroads had been wrecked; towns had been looted and inhabitants scattered.

Families had been separated, some forever. Plantations had been ransacked and their owners ruined financially by the loss of their slave and land holdings. The whole structure of Southern society was in ruins.

ADDED to the destruction, defeat and humiliation of the Confederate side, unscrupulous Yankee "carpetbaggers" swarmed over the South grasping power and fortune wherever they found it. They were aided by Southern white "scalawags" who hoped to profit by political chicanery and from lucrative government contracts.

It's little wonder that the war's wounds were deep and long - festering, or that resentments were strong and retaliatory tactics so widespread that race prejudice became a term synomous with the South.

Recent race riots have impaled more firmly the prejudice symbol on the South, both in this nation and the world.

But there is at work another force. It was not brought about by federal law or Supreme Court ruling but exists in the hearts of men of good will. This force which long has lain dormant now is beginning to make itself felt throughout the land.

"TODAY, fundamental resistance to Negro civil rights is dead or dying," Time magazine noted in a recent essay. It adds that compared to the First Reconstruction, Southern historian C. Vann Woodward sees "The Second Reconstruction assuming the proportions of a galloping revolution." and Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director, is quoted as saying, "We've already won. I don't mean we're all through. Sometimes a war isn't needed for years after the turning point. What I mean is we are over the hill. The back of segregation is broken."

Despite a few pockets of resistance a majority of Southerners are resigned to the inevitable and either willingly or grudgingly are putting aside prejudice and recognizing that racial equality is inevitable.

TO MANY Negro leaders, their fight now is approaching a point where the Southern Negro's problems are growing more like those of the Northern Negro, especially in regard to de facto segregation.

"Some still hope that because of the Southerner's special, if ambiguous, closeness to the Negro — in contrast to the Northerner's ignorance of him —the South can eventually produce a more humane community than the North," Time states.

So now, there is hope that the wounds of a century ago finally are being healed and while, by presidential proclamation, we are called upon to honor all our war dead, our minds and thoughts will be focused on that war out of which came our observance of Memorial Day as a national holiday.

In his epistle to the Romans, the Apostle Paul wrote:

"If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men . . .

"Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

The message is as applicable to Americans today as it was to the Romans of St. Paul's time.

May it bring new meaning to Memorial Day 1965.

What Is Lobbying?

By William S. Vance

COLUMBUS

The Ohio House of Representatives has washed its hands of the question of conflict of interest, defeating a bill that would have punished officials who let private business collide with public duty.

Now an equally difficult question involving another type of the legislature: Should public funds be used to support an organization which spends at least part of its time trying to influence legislation?

This one comes from Rep. Sam Landes, an outspoken Republican from Madison County, who wants to repeal the authority of the Ohio School Boards Association (OSBA) to collect dues from member boards.

Landes contends the OSBA is using taxpayers' money to lobby the taxpayers' representatives to raise taxes.

The OSBA is among education groups striving to raise the state sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent to finance increased state aid to public schools — a move that runs counter to the Rhodes administration's pledge to hold the line on taxes.

While Landes' bill is interpreted by many as retaliation against the OSBA for its part in the tax drive, he insists it is in no way an administration bill.

He says simply it is inconceivable to him that tax money —particularly tax money for education — should be spent to support lobbying activity.

OSBA president Vance Bell of Avon Lake contends the organization is not a lobby, that the contact with the legislature is primarily as a "supplier of information," not as an influencer.

The OSBA has no registered lobbyist here, but some of the capitol's best known lobbyists never have bothered to comply with the unenforced registration law.

This raises the question of what constitutes lobbying, a term that may be as hard to define as conflict of interest.

And if the legislature decides to repeal the OSBA's dues authority, what about other organizations clearly engaged in the lobbying business here?

Landes is looking into that question and says he may try to expand the scope of his bill. That could prove interesting.

It has been pointed out, for instance, that registration fees county commissioners and township trustees and clerks pay to their state organizations are chargeable to the county general fund.

Membership in the Ohio Municipal League, which never has denied its role as a lobby, is purchased by city councils.

Veterans' organizations, subsidized by the state, also maintain lobbies here. And, if one wanted to carry the concept far enough, state university presidents and certain employes also could be considered lobbyists.

Landes considers his bill a means of attacking "a kind of conflict of interest."

Interestingly, Landes himself was the target earlier this year of a conflict-of-interest allegation when he was being paid up to $125 by the Ohio Industrial Commission for each speech he delivered on industrial safety.

Meanwhile, the OSBA will be busy during the coming weeks trying to polish up its opposition to Landes' bill in a way that won't be misconstrued as lobbying.

"The crises in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo, though continents apart, are basically interrelated. They must be faced in the context of the entire world crisis.

"To date, Castro has made three attempts to intervene in Santo Domingo and foist a Communist dictatorship on the Dominican people.

"In Santo Domingo, as in Viet Nam, our country seeks only to thwart a new and most dangerous form of intervention by the fifth columns of Communist imperialism."

These are the words of men who lead 13 million American working people. In this context, what can be more significant?

A Thought For Memorial Day

When women of the South began decorating the graves of fathers, brothers, sons and husbands who had made the supreme sacrifice at the bloodiest height of the Civil War, they gave birth to a practice that later was to be observed throughout the nation as our Memorial Day.

When Northern wives, mothers, daughters, sisters and sweethearts heard what their Southern sisters were doing, they emulated their example.

By May 30, 1868, four years after the close of the war, Memorial Day was observed officially by order of Gen. John A. Logan, commander of the G.A.R.

Today Memorial Day or Decoration Day is observed in all states, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Canal Zone, Guam, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands — with the following exceptions — Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas. In Virginia the date is observed as Confederate Memorial Day.

ALABAMA, FLORIDA, Georgia and Mississippi observe April 26 as Confederate Memorial Day. North and South Carolina observe their Confederate Day, May 10 and Kentucky, Louisiana and Tennessee observe June 3.

Although, in recent years Memorial Day has been proclaimed a day of observance for the dead of all wars in which America has participated, it's inseparably connected with the Civil War, a conflict which brought a revolution in the life of America as great as the War for Independence.

When the veterans of the Confederacy returned to their homes after Appomattox they found destruction, destitution and demoralization.

Farmhouses, barns, and mills had been burned; bridges and railroads had been wrecked; towns had been looted and inhabitants scattered.

Families had been separated, some forever. Plantations had been ransacked and their owners ruined financially by the loss of their slave and land holdings. The whole structure of Southern society was in ruins.

ADDED to the destruction, defeat and humiliation of the Confederate side, unscrupulous Yankee "carpetbaggers" swarmed over the South grasping power and fortune wherever they found it. They were aided by Southern white "scalawags" who hoped to profit by political chicanery and from lucrative government contracts.

It's little wonder that the war's wounds were deep and long - festering, or that resentments were strong and retaliatory tactics so widespread that race prejudice became a term synomous with the South.

Recent race riots have impaled more firmly the prejudice symbol on the South, both in this nation and the world.

But there is at work another force. It was not brought about by federal law or Supreme Court ruling but exists in the hearts of men of good will. This force which long has lain dormant now is beginning to make itself felt throughout the land.

"TODAY, fundamental resistance to Negro civil rights is dead or dying," Time magazine noted in a recent essay. It adds that compared to the First Reconstruction, Southern historian C. Vann Woodward sees "The Second Reconstruction assuming the proportions of a galloping revolution." and Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director, is quoted as saying, "We've already won. I don't mean we're all through. Sometimes a war isn't needed for years after the turning point. What I mean is we are over the hill. The back of segregation is broken."

Despite a few pockets of resistance a majority of Southerners are resigned to the inevitable and either willingly or grudgingly are putting aside prejudice and recognizing that racial equality is inevitable.

TO MANY Negro leaders, their fight now is approaching a point where the Southern Negro's problems are growing more like those of the Northern Negro, especially in regard to de facto segregation.

"Some still hope that because of the Southerner's special, if ambiguous, closeness to the Negro — in contrast to the Northerner's ignorance of him —the South can eventually produce a more humane community than the North," Time states.

So now, there is hope that the wounds of a century ago finally are being healed and while, by presidential proclamation, we are called upon to honor all our war dead, our minds and thoughts will be focused on that war out of which came our observance of Memorial Day as a national holiday.

In his epistle to the Romans, the Apostle Paul wrote:

"If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men . . .

"Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

The message is as applicable to Americans today as it was to the Romans of St. Paul's time.

May it bring new meaning to Memorial Day 1965.

What Is Lobbying?

COLUMBUS

The Ohio House of Representatives has washed its hands of the question of conflict of interest, defeating a bill that would have punished officials who let private business collide with public duty.

Now an equally difficult question involving another type of the legislature: Should public funds be used to support an organization which spends at least part of its time trying to influence legislation?

This one comes from Rep. Sam Landes, an outspoken Republican from Madison County, who wants to repeal the authority of the Ohio School Boards Association (OSBA) to collect dues from member boards.

Landes contends the OSBA is using taxpayers' money to lobby the taxpayers' representatives to raise taxes.

The OSBA is among education groups striving to raise the state sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent to finance increased state aid to public schools — a move that runs counter to the Rhodes administration's pledge to hold the line on taxes.

While Landes' bill is interpreted by many as retaliation against the OSBA for its part in the tax drive, he insists it is in no way an administration bill.

He says simply it is inconceivable to him that tax money —particularly tax money for education — should be spent to support lobbying activity.

OSBA president Vance Bell of Avon Lake contends the organization is not a lobby, that the contact with the legislature is primarily as a "supplier of information," not as an influencer.

The OSBA has no registered lobbyist here, but some of the capitol's best known lobbyists never have bothered to comply with the unenforced registration law.

This raises the question of what constitutes lobbying, a term that may be as hard to define as conflict of interest.

And if the legislature decides to repeal the OSBA's dues authority, what about other organizations clearly engaged in the lobbying business here?

Landes is looking into that question and says he may try to expand the scope of his bill. That could prove interesting.

It has been pointed out, for instance, that registration fees county commissioners and township trustees and clerks pay to their state organizations are chargeable to the county general fund.

Membership in the Ohio Municipal League, which never has denied its role as a lobby, is purchased by city councils.

Veterans' organizations, subsidized by the state, also maintain lobbies here. And, if one wanted to carry the concept far enough, state university presidents and certain employes also could be considered lobbyists.

Landes considers his bill a means of attacking "a kind of conflict of interest."

Interestingly, Landes himself was the target earlier this year of a conflict-of-interest allegation when he was being paid up to $125 by the Ohio Industrial Commission for each speech he delivered on industrial safety.

Meanwhile, the OSBA will be busy during the coming weeks trying to polish up its opposition to Landes' bill in a way that won't be misconstrued as lobbying.

William Rail Due Sentence On Fund Case

William Rail of Huntington Park, Calif., former second vice president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, is due to appear in U.S. District Court at Los Angeles on Tuesday for sentencing after pleading guilty to two counts charging him with embezzlement of IBOP funds.

The IBOP said Rail pleaded guilty to two counts of a 12-count indictment which was returned against him on April 14. The two counts cited alleged embezzlement of $16,700 of the international union's funds.

Rail resigned from the IBOP office on June 1, 1964, asserting he was acting under his physician's advice. As second vice president, he had been in charge of the IBOP's West Coast office.

Rail was succeeded by Bernard Rowbottom, formerly a 10th vice president on the West Coast. Rowbottom was appointed to the post by the IBOP Executive Board. Union members named him to the unexpired term in a special election Oct. 13, 1964. Rowbottom was elected to a full term in the IBOP's general election May 4.

The first count to which Rail pleaded guilty accused him of "unlawfully and wilfully embezzling and converting to his own use" the sum of $6,700 in IBOP funds on April 22, 1963. The second count charged him with embezzling $10,000 on Jan. 15, 1964.

The Labor Department's regional offices in Cleveland and Los Angeles conducted extensive investigations of Rail's activities relative to the IBOP funds.

The IBOP said the investigations "did not uncover any monies that were unlawfully taken beyond the amount which the Brotherhood has recovered from the bonding company." The union added that "it has been confirmed by the investigation that Rail was acting alone in the conversions."

Auto Tire Stolen With 'Flat' Left As Replacement

A thief removed a virtually new tire and wheel from an East End man's auto early Sunday, taking the trouble to mount another as a replacement, the motorist told police.

But the replacement was well worn and flat, Larry Watson, 1031 Pennsylvania Ave., told police.

Watson said he parked his car about midnight Saturday on 1st Ave. 70 feet south of Pennsylvania Ave. When he looked out the window Sunday morning, he saw a flat tire on the left rear of his car, he related.

Watson found a three-month-old tire and the black wheel on which it was mounted had been removed by a thief. It was replaced with a silver gray wheel and a well-worn tire. Both the stolen tire and the "replacement" were size 800-x-14, Watson said.

The thief had replaced all except one of the lug nuts holding the wheel in place. He also had replaced the hubcap, perhaps hoping that Watson would not notice the switch, officers said.

The Supreme Court ruled in 1950 that under the Fifth Amendment no one could be forced to testify against himself.

Sacré bleu!

It took those sophisticated French to finally come up with the first worthy replacement for the DC-3.

Those French! They've always been best known here for exports that come in drams, fifths, yards, and bikinis. Yet, now they've come up with one measured in tons and miles—the new NORD 262, first worthy replacement for America's old reliable DC-3.

Anything the DC-3 does, the prop-JET Nord does newer. It gets you there faster, and more comfortably. It's air conditioned. Pressurized. Boards on the level. According to the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, the NORD 262 is a new aircraft, "especially suited" for short haul routes of the type Lake Central flies to 50 mid-central U.S.A. cities. Which is why Lake Central is the first U.S. airline to engage this new French beauty.

Lafayette, we are here! Also Indianapolis, Cleveland, Wheeling, Baltimore, etc., etc., etc.

The Critical Point

Is Bolivia Headed For Peace Or Utter Chaos?

La Paz, capital of Boliva, means peace but since mid-May that land-locked South American nation has known little peace. AP Special Correspondent William L. Ryan looks into the past, present and future of Bolivia in trouble.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia has reached that critical point where it will soon know whether it is headed for relative peace or utter chaos.

There is a chance that chaos will be averted but it depends upon whether the ruling military junta can solve the central problem of the tin mines and avert national disaster for the mines and the economy.

If the junta fails, a takeover by extremist elements on the left is a possibility, even though the Communist elements themselves are split into about five fictions.

If this terribly complicated nation of four million should go under, the impact on its neighbors would be enormous.

La Paz means peace. For the past two weeks this capital was one of the most extravagantly misnamed cities in the world. Through Friday morning there had been shooting daily and nightly. The country has counted at least 70 dead and hundreds wounded since May 14 when the junta shipped into exile in Paraguay the boss of the tin miners, Juan Lechin.

This weekend there seemed — just seemed — to be a lessening of tension. Many trade union leaders and agitators of the far left are in jail and some have fled the country. But the Communist leaders of the nationalized mines in most cases remain free to operate in the major mining areas where the army has not yet penetrated.

Miners who had been on strike have been drifting back to work, but the central problem is unchanged.

The danger is not over in the capital, either. There is conflict within the army itself. Its ranks are filled by unlettered and sometimes unreliable Indian boys. Its officers are divided by their own political ambitions and shifting loyalties.

The backbone of the economy is tin. The mines have accounted for more than 80 per cent of the nation's income. But the situation in that section of the mines which were nationalized — 60 per cent — is one of anarchy.

Comibol — the Bolivian mining corporation which runs the nationalized mines —is bankrupt. It has enough cash perhaps to pay wages for a month or two. The miners, mostly illiterate former campesinos, are captives of the Communists. They form a state within a state, seemingly beyond control of the central government.

The trouble dates far back. This country is 70 per cent illiterate, has the second lowest per capita income in the hemisphere after Haiti. Half the Indian population does not even understand Spanish. Until relatively recently there had been no effort to integrate the Indian population into the country's political and economic life.

Victor Paz Estenssoro, elected in 1951, took over as president in 1952 after a revolution by his National Revolutionary Movement — MNR — forced him into office. The MNR was intent on overnight change. It broke up big land holdings and distributed land to the Indians, but that was the extent of agrarian reform. Agricultural production suffered for the next half-dozen years.

Paz moved to nationalize the tin mines, concentrating on the big ones which had symbolized an oligarchy system. About 40 per cent of the mines remained in private hands. In the nationalized mines there developed a fantastic system of featherbedding and union interference which reached a stage where production costs were so much above the world market price of tin that the government lost money on each shovelful of ore taken from the ground. The private mines continued to operate at a profit.

Communist and Castroist extremists have control of the miners and their union. This was all the more dangerous since the MNR, early in its regime, distributed arms to about 8,000 civilians to form a popular militia which was to be a counterbalance to the armed forces' power. Those arms are still in civilian hands.

Lechin has exercised much power as mine union boss and minister of mines, and was a presidential possibility. Some called him a Communist but it seemed more likely he was an opportunist of the far left who used the Communists for his own ends.

President Paz, apparently considering himself an essential counterbalance to Lechin, in 1964 changed the constitution to permit himself to run for a third term in an election so arranged so that he could not lose. He was already being denounced publicly as a tyrant. His vice president was Rene Barrientos, an air force general. They took office last August.

In November, Barrientos led a coup overthrowing and exiling Paz.

The country was in danger then. The tin miners in the nationalized mines remained beyond control of the central authorities. There was total lack of discipline. They punished and expelled managers they did not like, stole from the company, held meetings on company time, demanded triple pay for overtime. Often equipment was insufficient and inadequate. But there was no way of improving things without imposing labor discipline.

After Lechin was exiled, the junta drew up decrees vacating all mine union jobs, promising drastic measures. About 25 per cent of the miners were surplus labor and their jobs were endangered. Wages would be adjusted, affecting about 60 per cent of the workers adversely. The unions called a general strike.

While the strike was only partially effective, the ensuing violence produced near panic in La Paz. MNR civilians with their arms could ambush armed forces in the mine areas or harass them elsewhere with sniper fire.

Last Wednesday, the junta inducted a copresident, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, to serve with Barrientos. Ovando is the plodding worker of the combination, Barrientos the flamboyant front for the junta. The copresidency announced a policy of persuasion, and its answer, within a few hours, was new violence and dynamiting in the capital.

The dilemma was clear: If the junta used force to impose its decrees, it might push elements of the extreme left together into an alliance of convenience which could lead to revolution in the long run; if it did not use force, the basic problems would remain unsolved and anarchy would reign in the mine areas.

The Critical Point

Is Bolivia Headed For Peace Or Utter Chaos?

La Paz, capital of Boliva, means peace but since mid-May that land-locked South American nation has known little peace. AP Special Correspondent William L. Ryan looks into the past, present and future of Bolivia in trouble.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolvia has reached that critical point where it will soon know whether it is headed for relative peace or utter chaos.

There is a chance that chaos will be averted but it depends upon whether the ruling military junta can solve the central problem of the tin mines and avert national disaster for the mines and the economy.

If the junta fails, a takeover by extremist elements on the left is a possibility, even though the Communist elements themselves are split into about five fictions.

If this terribly complicated nation of four million should go under, the impact on its neighbors would be enormous.

La Paz means peace. For the past two weeks this capital was one of the most extravagantly misnamed cities in the world. Through Friday morning there had been shooting daily and nightly. The country has counted at least 70 dead and hundreds wounded since May 14 when the junta shipped into exile in Paraguay the boss of the tin miners, Juan Lechin.

This weekend there seemed — just seemed — to be a lessening of tension. Many trade union leaders and agitators of the far left are in jail and some have fled the country. But the Communist leaders of the nationalized mines in most cases remain free to operate in the major mining areas where the army has not yet penetrated.

Miners who had been on strike have been drifting back to work, but the central problem is unchanged.

The danger is not over in the capital, either. There is conflict within the army itself. Its ranks are filled by unlettered and sometimes unreliable Indian boys. Its officers are divided by their own political ambitions and shifting loyalties.

The backbone of the economy is tin. The mines have accounted for more than 80 per cent of the nation's income. But the situation in that section of the mines which were nationalized — 60 per cent — is one of anarchy.

Comibol — the Bolivian mining corporation which runs the nationalized mines —is bankrupt. It has enough cash perhaps to pay wages for a month or two. The miners, mostly illiterate former campesinos, are captives of the Communists. They form a state within a state, seemingly beyond control of the central government.

The trouble dates far back. This country is 70 per cent illiterate, has the second lowest per capita income in the hemisphere after Haiti. Half the Indian population does not even understand Spanish. Until relatively recently there had been no effort to integrate the Indian population into the country's political and economic life.

Victor Paz Estenssoro, elected in 1951, took over as president in 1952 after a revolution by his National Revolutionary Movement — MNR — forced him into office. The MNR was intent on overnight change. It broke up big land holdings and distributed land to the Indians, but that was the extent of agrarian reform. Agricultural production suffered for the next half-dozen years.

Paz moved to nationalize the tin mines, concentrating on the big ones which had symbolized an oligarchy system. About 40 per cent of the mines remained in private hands. In the nationalized mines there developed a fantastic system of featherbedding and union interference which reached a stage where production costs were so much above the world market price of tin that the government lost money on each shovelful of ore taken from the ground. The private mines continued to operate at a profit.

Communist and Castroist extremists have control of the miners and their union. This was all the more dangerous since the MNR, early in its regime, distributed arms to about 8,000 civilians to form a popular militia which was to be a counterbalance to the armed forces' power. Those arms are still in civilian hands.

Lechin has exercised much power as mine union boss and minister of mines, and was a presidential possibility. Some called him a Communist but it seemed more likely he was an opportunist of the far left who used the Communists for his own ends.

President Paz, apparently considering himself an essential counterbalance to Lechin, in 1964 changed the constitution to permit himself to run for a third term in an election so arranged so that he could not lose. He was already being denounced publicly as a tyrant. His vice president was Rene Barrientos, an air force general. They took office last August.

In November, Barrientos led a coup overthrowing and exiling Paz.

The country was in danger then. The tin miners in the nationalized mines remained beyond control of the central authorities. There was total lack of discipline. They punished and expelled managers they did not like, stole from the company, held meetings on company time, demanded triple pay for overtime. Often equipment was insufficient and inadequate. But there was no way of improving things without imposing labor discipline.

After Lechin was exiled, the junta drew up decrees vacating all mine union jobs, promising drastic measures. About 25 per cent of the miners were surplus labor and their jobs were endangered. Wages would be adjusted, affecting about 60 per cent of the workers adversely. The unions called a general strike.

While the strike was only partially effective, the ensuing violence produced near panic in La Paz. MNR civilians with their arms could ambush armed forces in the mine areas or harass them elsewhere with sniper fire.

Last Wednesday, the junta inducted a copresident, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, to serve with Barrientos. Ovando is the plodding worker of the combination, Barrientos the flamboyant front for the junta. The copresidency announced a policy of persuasion, and its answer, within a few hours, was new violence and dynamiting in the capital.

The dilemma was clear: If the junta used force to impose its decrees, it might push elements of the extreme left together into an alliance of convenience which could lead to revolution in the long run; if it did not use force, the basic problems would remain unsolved and anarchy would reign in the mine areas.

Judy Garland Breaks Off Her Concert In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Singer Judy Garland left Cincinnati Sunday for an unannounced destination following a tempestous session Saturday night in which about 1,000 persons besieged her dressing room after she broke off a concert because of illness.

A spokesman for the promoters of the concert said he "thought" Miss Garland was going to California but he did not know where.

When it was announced the concert would not be completed, a spokesman told the audience Miss Garland had said, "I am very sorry. I became ill and I cannot sing for you. I will be back again to sing for you for free."

Despite that, part of the crowd surged around the star's dressing room, shouting "We want our money back! Do we get refunds?"

Miss Garland finally was taken to the hotel where she has been staying since her arrival here earlier in the week.

There were no refunds made.

A statement issued by the promoters said:

"Since one-half of the performance had been completed, similar to 4½ innings of a baseball game and that, in effect, Miss Garland's second half consisted of only 20 minutes, no refunds will be made.

"However, negotiations began immediately with Miss Garland's agents in an attempt to bring her back to Cincinnati to complete her engagement.

"If these negotiations are successful, patrons holding ticket stubs to the May 29 concert will be admitted free of charge."

The promoters said Miss Garland had been under the care of a Cincinnati physician, Dr. James H. Spraul, since she came here and apparently was suffering from a virus infection, similar to the flu.

After performing for 32 minutes she called for Dr. Spraul. Dr. Louis Kreindler of Cincinnati and the singer's personal physician, Dr. Kermit Ossenman of New York, who was here, also were called.

It was announced she had a temperature of 103 and that the doctors declined to allow her to continue with the performance.

The performance here had a top admission price of $7.50. The crowd was estimated at 4,500.

Explosions And Fire Hit Delaware Complex

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A series of explosions followed by a fire destroyed part of the Womington Industrial Park complex Saturday night, causing damage estimated by authorities at well over $1 million.

No serious injuries were reported. Two firemen suffered minor hurts.

What caused the explosions had not been determined.

East End Man Hurt In Blast Of Cartridge

A 42-year-old East End man was injured painfully late Sunday afternoon when a blank cartridge exploded as he was cleaning a rifle at his home, preparing to take part in firing squad ceremonies at today's Memorial Day observance.

John Long, 538 Elizabeth St., a World War II veteran and a member of American Legion Post 374, was treated at City Hospital for wounds of the left ear, forehead and right hand.

Long told Patrolman L. E. Richard he was cleaning the rifle in the back yard of his home about 4:25 p.m. Sunday when he discovered the blank cartridge lodged in the chamber. When he used a screw driver in an attempt to free the cartridge, it exploded backward through the chamber, he related.

The blast tore the screw driver in half, causing it to rip off one of Long's finger nails.

Long said when he found the cartridge in the chamber it appeared it had been fired, but not ejected. When he used the screw driver to attempt to ream it out of the chamber, the primer fired and the cartridge "back fired" from the chamber, he said.

The weapon was a 1917 model Springfield, the bolt action rifle used by the Legion in ceremonial duties.

Long is scheduled to act as the sergeant in charge of the firing squad detail in today's ceremonies. The firing squad will take part in memorial rites on the Chester Bridge, at Springgrove Cemetery and at the new War Memorial at City Hall.

Long served in World War II with the 652nd Tank Destroyer Battalion.

In 1964, one of the last and most important Antarctic survey was completed. It was guided by New Zealanders who penetrated and studied the extensive mountain areas from Cape Adare westward for some 400 miles to the Pennell Glacier.

Integrationists Thwarted In Bid To Attend Services

By The Associated Press

Integrationists tried unsuccessfully to attend services at two white Baptist churches in Crawfordville, Ga., Sunday, and 13 were arrested on charges of blocking driveways and sidewalks.

Negroes marched around the courthouse in protest and demonstrated briefly in front of the residence of Mrs. Lola H. Williams, Taliferro County school superintendent, in another protest against the school board's failure to renew contract of six Negro teachers.

The demonstrations started last week over the board's decision.

Four Negroes and two white companions were denied entry to one church Sunday and left without incident. Another integrated group tried to attend a second church near Alexander H. Stephens State Park. All were arrested.

Civil rights leaders at Bogalusa, La., mounted a church-to-church and house-to-house recruiting drive for a protest march on City Hall.

Fifty more state police arrived to beef up the state trooper force to 80 after a long night of tension created by a sidewalk clash between whites and Negroes during downtown picketing Saturday.

Carloads of armed white men were parked on the main street into the early morning hours Sunday. Police patrolled busily through the night.

In the main Negro section, the Deacons of Defense and Justice, a "defensive" organization, stood guard with rifles and pistols at the homes of Negro leaders.

Michael Jones of San Francisco, a Congress of Racial Equality field worker, said one convoy of about 10 cars drove past the home of one of the officers of the Bogalusa civic and voters league.

"They will never know how many gunsights were on them all the way," he said. "There were armed men on every rooftop."

At Lebanon, Ohio, the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan were continuing there Memorial Day weekend rally with more speeches and a picnic. The rally began Friday night. Saturday night Klansmen burned a 30-foot cross in a field.

Negro students graduated from two Deep South state universities for the first time.

Vivian Malone of Mobile became the first Negro to graduate from the University of Alabama in its 134-year history. She listened with other graduates as the president of the American Broadcasting Co., Thomas B. Moore, admonished them to start now in raising the Negro emotionally and economically until he is ready for equality.

'Island' Of Ice

A Navy icebreaker has removed all scientists from Arlis II, a doomed "island" of ice that has wandered around the Arctic Ocean for years.

The huge iceberg first was spotted 130 miles north of Point Barrow, Alaska, in 1961, the National Geographic Society says. The United States Office of Naval Research established a scientific station aboard the berg and named it Arlis II, an abbreviation of Arctic Research Laboratory Ice Station II.

Over the four years that scientists lived on Arlis II, it meandered continuously about the ocean. At one time, wind and currrent pushed it toward Siberia. By early 1965 the ice mass had drifted more than 5,000 statute miles from the point where men first went aboard. Once the Western Hemisphere's northernmost outpost, the island finally rounded the farthest tip of Greenland and headed southward between Greenland and Iceland toward the North Atlantic.

In mid-May, 1965, the Navy icebreaker Edisto completed evacuation of the 18 men and took off most usable equipment. Three radio beacons were left trahsmitting so the island's future course can be traced at least for a while. Arlis II will be a major hazard to Atlantic shipping until it disintegrates in warm waters.

On discovery, Arlis II measured about four by two miles. A large part split off in the summer of 1961.

Youth, 19, Faces Kidnap Charge Involving Officer

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — Clifford West, a 19-year-old prison farm escapee who allegedly kidnaped a Michigan state trooper at gunpoint and engaged police in a wild chase, faced charges of kidnaping and assault with intent to murder Sunday.

The charges stem from a 50-mile chase Saturday through southeastern Michigan and northwestern Ohio which ended at Fremont, Ohio, when Michigan Trooper Richard Perry tried to wrestle a gun from West's hand.

The car crashed, both men tumbling out, still wrestling for control of the weapon. West was subdued by pursuing police who had tried to ram the fleeing car.

Neither man was seriously injured.

Police said West had been sought since he fled from a prison farm near Pontiac, Mich., on May 7. He had been stopped by Perry, who was checking out a stolen car report when West pulled a gun on him near Monroe and ordered him into West's car.

There are 6,272,640 square inches in one acre.

Service Restored In Derailment That Killed One

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — Service was restored Sunday on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad after a midnight wreck that killed a mail clerk and injured three other trainmen, one seriously.

A Seaboard spokesman said the main line at the northwest edge of this south-central Florida town, 126 miles northwest of Miami, was repaired at 10 a.m. The train, the Palmland, continued to Jacksonville and New York. It left Miami at 9 p.m. Saturday.

The 42 passengers aboard the derailed Palmland remained aboard until daybreak and were taken to Jacksonville by bus. None of them was injured as the Pullman and two coaches stayed on the rails.

Two baggage cars and four mail cars left the track and three cars overturned.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for years and never have seen a problem like mine.

My son's mother-in-law telephones me at least twice a week to complain about something my son did or did not do. For instance, this morning Mrs. Pain-in-the-Neck called me at 7:30 a.m. and said, "Your son left for High Point this morning and didn't leave Marcella any money. He won't be back until tomorrow and the poor girl hasn't got a dime. I'll have to take some money over to her right away."

Last week she called to tell me my son gave Marcella only one hour's notice and brought three business friends home for cocktails. Marcella didn't have any soda or lemons in the house. The place was a mess and she didn't even have time to comb her hair.

Marcella happens to be a lazy, disorganized slob. I don't want to become involved in their troubles and I don't want Mrs. Pain-in-the-Neck to tell me what goes on between them. What do you recommend?—H.J.K.

Dear H. J. K.: The next time Mrs. Pain - in - the-Neck calls say this "It breaks my heart that a fine, lovely girl like Marcella married a worthless, no-good bum like my son. She could have done much better — and I'm sorry she didn't. Please don't tell me any more sad stories about those two because it spoils my whole day."

Trial Is Error

Dear Ann: I'm a middle-aged, sensible, God - fearing woman. Here is my story and I'd like your views:

Three months ago a man I've known for years telephoned and asked for help. He had been transferred to this city and was having a difficult time finding a suitable apartment. That very day my roommate told me she was getting married and moving out within the week.

I asked the man if he would like to move in. He said yes. This is a large apartment — spacious living room, two beautiful bedrooms, two baths and a kitchen. We split the rent, the phone, the utilities and the grocery bill. It's an ideal arrangement for us both. Anyone who thinks there is sex going on here is crazy.

The landlady told me yesterday that several tenants are gossiping about us. She suggested I remove the man's name from the mailbox or tell people he is my uncle.

I refuse to do either. My conscience is clear. What do you think?—RESPECTABLE.

Dear Respectable: Your conscience may be clear but your reputation is going to be mud if you don't get that man out of there.

People make judgments based on what they see, and when they see an unmarried man and woman sharing an apartment they assume the couple is not playing Chinese Checkers.

Big Parader

Dear Ann: Our neighbors have a 23-year-old son who served in the Marines and was discharged last fall. This boy is a smart aleck who knows more tricks than a monkey with a rope.

I saw him wearing his Marine uniform on the street yesterday and asked if he was going to a parade. He said, "No—I'm going to the ball game. The uniform gets me in for half price." Then he added, "I always wear my uniform when I want to hitch a ride to Richmond or Washington."

Is this against the law? — JUST ASKING.

Dear Just: My Marine authorities in Chicago say an inactive member may wear the uniform only when attending a military funerad, a wedding, a presidential inauguration or when participating in a parade.

This boy is abusing the uniform and he could get into trouble.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Canada Hits U.S. Plan On Peace Force

OTTAWA (AP) — The government of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson fears that the U.S. drive for a permanent Latin-American peace force will torpedo Canada's promotion of a U.N. peace force, government informants say.

The concern in Ottawa is that Washington's proposal for a peace force under the Organization of American States will produce a series of regional peace forces, each of them tied to an area alliance and dominated by a single world power.

This would be a far cry from the truly international force, controlled at least in part by the U.N. General Assembly, which Canada has been seeking for some time.

Both Pearson and Foreign Minister Paul Martin have made it clear that they support the creation of an OAS force to work in the Dominican Republic.

But on the idea of making the OAS force permanent, the Canadian reaction is somewhat different, particularly in the absence of any suggestion by U.S. spokesmen that the regional force will be tied to the United Nations in any way.

Canada, which will not play any role in the proposed OAS force, is convinced, sources say, that the force will be closely controlled by Washington.

Thus, government officials see a possibility of an Asian peace force dominated by Communist China or an Eastern European peace force controlled by the Soviet Union.

ERNEST MERRITT, 23, of Smiths Ferry was in "fairly good" condition Sunday night at the hospital with possible fractured ribs suffered in a collision Saturday at 11:50 p.m. on Harvey Ave.

Police said Merritt's 1962 auto was involved in a collision with a 1953 model car driven by George Whittaker, 31, of 226 Indiana Ave., Chester.

Merritt told police he did not know how the crash occurred. Whittaker, driving west, said Merritt passed another eastbound car and struck the Whittaker car. There was damage to the left front of the Whittaker car and the left side of Merritt's auto.

Police said Merritt did not halt at the crash scene, but was apprehended at 1:20 a.m. Sunday on Tuscarawas Rd. Ext. in Ohioville Borough by Chief Bernard Zlatovich and Mike Hayden, his assistant.

Zlatovich said Merritt was apprehended as a result of an alert broadcast by East Liverpool police. The motorist was lodged in Midland jail temporarily. When his rib injuries were discovered, he was sent to East Liverpool for hospitalization, he said.

A 60-year-old Wooster man was cited on a reckless driving charge after a spectacular crash Saturday at 10:29 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at 1st Ave. that damaged two parked cars.

A 1957 four - door sedan driven by Harry E. Fickes hit a parked 1953 four - door sedan owned by Frank Hall, 1007 Pennsylvania Ave., and a parked 1959 four - door sedan owned by Norman D. Scott, 1702 Etruria St.

Fickes told Patrolman L. E. Richard he did not know how the crash occurred. Richard said the investigation showed the Fickes car crossed 1st Ave., hitting a car parked on the west side, then jumped the curb, crossed a vacant lot and hit another car parked on the south side of Pennsylvania Ave.

The collision damaged the right front of Fickes' car and the two left tires also were blown out, the officer said. There was damage to the right front of both the Hall car and the Scott auto.

A city - owned sign at Market and E. 3rd Sts. was damaged in a collision Saturday at 8:02 p.m.

The standard supporting a sign at a city - owned parking lot was hit by a 1960 model car operated by S. A. Thomas, 82, of 1711 Globe St., police reported.

Thomas went to the police station to report the mishap. He said he rounded the turn from E. 3rd St. to Market St. when one of his wheels hit a hole in the pavement, causing him to lose control.

The car jumped the curb and hit the pole supporting the sign, he said. There was damage to the right front bumper of the Thomas car.

Son Of FDR Faces Biggest Political Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, faces the biggest test of his brief political career Tuesday when the voters of Miami Beach choose a mayor.

He is attempting to unseat Melvin J. Richard, a veteran of 14 years on the City Council, the last two of them as mayor, who has accused Roosevelt of:

Knowing nothing about the needs of a city where he has lived for only two years.

Failing in businesses in four states and marriages to four women.

Trading on his father's name.

Roosevelt, 54, who concedes that the name doesn't hurt, recalled what his father said when Westbrook Pegler was attacking Mrs. Roosevelt and she wanted to fight back: "My father said, 'You are no more equipped to do battle with a skunk than you are to do battle with that gentleman.'"

Roosevelt, tall, crew-cut, flashing the easy smile of his father, answers the lack of experience charge by saying: "I got training under a really good man who had lots of government experience. But I'm campaigning as Elliott Roosevelt."

Two others seek the office but observers say the race is between Richard and Roosevelt, and regard them as "y to 5 and take your choice.'"

The others are Fred T. Hunt Sr., 62, who said he would be a "full-time mayor," and Dr. Morris Zucker, 70, a retired New York dentist.

Roosevelt and his fifth wife, the former Patricia Peabody of Seattle, moved here in 1963. A year later he led 11 other candidates in the statewide race for Democratic national committeeman from Florida.

This year he jumped into the race for mayor, insisting that he intended to make this predominantly Jewish city of 70,000 his home. He also disclaimed interest in higher office.

Richard, a native of Brooklyn and a year younger than Roosevelt, called attention to his 14 years on the City Council, being married to the same woman for 24 years and leading a campaign to rid the city of an entrenched gambling syndicate.

Fatality

pital was the 10th traffic victim in Columbiana County this year, compared with 10 at this time in 1964.

Sherri Lynch, 18, and Patty Lloyd, 17, both of McCoy Ave., were treated at City Hospital Saturday night after their car overturned twice along Route 170, two miles south of Negley.

Officers said Miss Lynch was driving a 1962 sedan which went off the left side of the road at a curve and overturned about 10 p. m. There was moderate damage to the car. She was charged with traveling at a speed in excess of safe conditions.

Tammy Sue Gilkinson, 2, daughter of David Gilkinson of Westfield Rd., and Mrs. Jean Phillips of Avon were hurt in a two-car mishap on Dresden Ave. Ext. at the Pearl China Co. Sunday afternoon at 3:40.

The child was a passenger in a car driven by Karen Gilkinson, 22, of Westfield which collided with one operated by Norman Phillips, 60, of Avon.

The patrol said Phillips drove his 1964 car from a parking area on the west side of the road to the east side of the road and was struck by the 1956 sedan of the woman.

Mrs. Phillips, 53, suffered abrasions of the back of the head, and the child received a bruise of the head. Both were treated at the hospital.

Phillips was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Three people were hurt in a two-car crash on County Rd. 421 a half-mile east of Route 7 Saturday, officers said.

A car operated by Donald Dodd, 64, of New Waterford collided with another driven by Ellen Pitzer, 35, of Rogers.

Dodd was attempting to make a left turn into a private drive and collided with the oncoming 1962 sedan of the woman, the patrol said.

Both drivers and a passenger in the woman's car, Phyllis Pitzer, 15, were injured. Dodd was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Harry Ferrall, 70, of Leetonia was cited for driving left of center after his car collided with one operated by Robert Bycroft, 75, of East Palestine R. D. 1 on Township Rd. 882 a mile east of Route 7 Sunday at 3 p. m. Officers said Ferrall came over a hill crest left of center, and his 1960 sedan collided with Bycroft's oncoming 1959 sedan.

Neither was hurt, the patrol said.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

How Much Do You Eat After Dinner?

Is night - eating from habit or hunger? This nocturnal pastime has been termed the night-eating syndrome, but that's just a fancy phrase to give importance to a common problem.

Ida Jean Kain

After an adequate dinner, the hankering for food can't be true hunger. Some of you report ruefully that you eat all evening long. This habit, in many cases, can be traced to restless boredom. It's easy to fall into the habit of going in search of something to eat just to while the time away.

—:—

THE TEST of whether eating at night is habit or hunger is this: Do you eat at night only on special occasions, or do you routinely raid the refrigerator? If you are up late and have had an active evening of square dancing or bowling or the like, you may feel hungry, and a snack is in order. You are in control if you take night snacks only when true hunger demands.

Compulsive eating is quite different. One overweight, trying to break the habit, explained that she went to the refrigerator at least a dozen times in one evening. This habit in many instances is associated with dissatisfaction with life. Or, it can stem from some unsolved emotional problem or conflict. Overeating will not solve the problem, so obviously it is not the answer. The problem is not being solved and all the time the habit is being strengthened.

So, what to do? Try to figure out what is troubling you underneath. Some people find that worry makes them "eat like crazy." Worry is ineffectual, so it's easy to eat something to take your mind off the worry. This, too, is habit forming.

It does little good to say to yourself, however sternly, "I'll stop eating at night." A better plan is to think through your whole pattern. If you are a working wife, it may be you are trying to do too many chores in the evening. Feeling sorry for yourself, you eat as a reward. You may reason, "I deserve this," fixing a sandwich and then finishing up the cake left from dinner. Actually, this is no favor to yourself, since you want to lose weight, not gain.

WHEN YOU are willing to reason through the situation, you gain insight into the cause of the excess eating. This a mature way of dealing with the problem. Having faced the facts, you are in a better position to change your actions.

The night - eating habit is merely a way of attempting to make up for something you are missing. The happiest way to change and get out of the clutches of habit is to make plans for interesting evenings. When your mind is diverted, you won't be plagued by the hankering for food. This is a scientific fact.

Sen. Clark Plans Filibuster In Issue On Apportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

FILIBUSTER PROMISED: Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Sunday he intends to filibuster against a proposed consitutional amendment aimed at blocking apportionment of state legislatures on a one-man, one-vote basis.

Clark said on a television-radio program taped with Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., that he believes between 30 and 40 members of the Senate will join in an effort to talk the proposal to death.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has proposed an amendment which would permit voters in each state to determine whether one house could be apportioned on geographical, as well as population, factors.

PRICE CUTTING: Legislation to permit business men to sue price cutting competitors bent on driving them out of business was scheduled Sunday for Senate hearings June 21-23.

The bill would authorize civil suits for triple damages and cease-and-desist orders against companies which "sell or contract to sell goods at unreasonably low prices for the purpose of destroying competition or eliminating a competitor."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee said the bill's objective is to "give effect to the legislative intent of Congress to enlist the aid of the private business man in assisting the enforcement of the antitrust laws."

He said section 3 of the Robinson-Patman Act already "forbids this unfair competitive practice" but provides only for criminal prosecution initiated by the government and a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and a year in jail.

—:—

AFL-CIO AND TIRES: The AFL-CIO asked Congress Sunday to establish basic safety standards for automobile tires, calling present grading and labeling practices a "confusing mish-mash."

In a letter to Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee, the AFL-CIO endorsed a tire-standards bill now before that committee.

Andrew J. Biemiller, AFL-CIO legislative director, wrote it "is impossible for the tire buyer to make an intelligent choice among competing brands." He added that tire dealers are equally handicapped.

Links Crown To Crampton

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bruce Crampton, handsome iron man from Australia, vaulted into the second PGA money-winning spot with a pressurized one-stroke victory at the $87,000 Speedway Festival Open Sunday.

Crampton shook off a triple bogey 7 on the 425-yard fifth hole at Greentree Country Club and then finished with a par 71 after an approach from 200 yards to within four feet of the 18th pin for a par 5 worth about $7,300.

Crampton finished with 279, five under and one stroke ahead of fast-finishing Jackie Cupit and Lionel Hebert to spear the $15,200 top prize.

The triumph boosted Crampton's earnings in 19 of 20 PGA starts this year to $43,095 in official money, just behind the pace-setting $47,950 by Jack Nicklaus, who skipped this tourney.

Lionel Hebert, last a winner in the 1962 Memphis tourney, finished a threesome ahead of Crampton with a 70 for a 280 total.

Cupit, playing in the final threesome with Crampton, also put great pressure on the Aussie with a closing birdie 4 after reaching the 560-yard green in two to post a 69.

Cupit and Hebert split the second and third money, collecting $6,625 each.

The roof seemed to collapse on Crampton, 54-hole leader by two strokes when he drove into three-foot deep rough off the 18th tee and then hacked the ball only a foot on his second shot.

"Your time left on earth is limited. You should look at your self both close up and at a distance. Maintain a proper set of values. Without God there is no hope in this life or the next," he told the class.

Canada Hits U.S. Plan On Peace Force

OTTAWA (AP) — The government of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson fears that the U.S. drive for a permanent Latin-American peace force will torpedo Canada's promotion of a U.N. peace force, government informants say.

The concern in Ottawa is that Washington's proposal for a peace force under the Organization of American States will produce a series of regional peace forces, each of them tied to an area alliance and dominated by a single world power.

This would be a far cry from the truly international force, controlled at least in part by the U.N. General Assembly, which Canada has been seeking for some time.

Both Pearson and Foreign Minister Paul Martin have made it clear that they support the creation of an OAS force to work in the Dominican Republic.

But on the idea of making the OAS force permanent, the Canadian reaction is somewhat different, particularly in the absence of any suggestion by U.S. spokesmen that the regional force will be tied to the United Nations in any way.

Canada, which will not play any role in the proposed OAS force, is convinced, sources say, that the force will be closely controlled by Washington.

Thus, government officials see a possibility of an Asian peace force dominated by Communist China or an Eastern European peace force controlled by the Soviet Union.

The collision damaged the right front of Fickes' car and the two left tires also were blown out, the officer said. There was damage to the right front of both the Hall car and the Scott auto.

Son Of FDR Faces Biggest Political Test

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, faces the biggest test of his brief political career Tuesday when the voters of Miami Beach choose a mayor.

He is attempting to unseat Melvin J. Richard, a veteran of 14 years on the City Council, the last two of them as mayor, who has accused Roosevelt of:

Knowing nothing about the needs of a city where he has lived for only two years.

Failing in businesses in four states and marriages to four women.

Trading on his father's name.

Roosevelt, 54, who concedes that the name doesn't hurt, recalled what his father said when Westbrook Pegler was attacking Mrs. Roosevelt and she wanted to fight back: "My father said, 'You are no more equipped to do battle with a skunk than you are to do battle with that gentleman.'"

Roosevelt, tall, crew-cut, flashing the easy smile of his father, answers the lack of experience charge by saying: "I got training under a really good man who had lots of government experience. But I'm campaigning as Elliott Roosevelt."

Two others seek the office but observers say the race is between Richard and Roosevelt, and regard them as "y to 5 and take your choice.'"

The others are Fred T. Hunt Sr., 62, who said he would be a "full-time mayor," and Dr. Morris Zucker, 70, a retired New York dentist.

Roosevelt and his fifth wife, the former Patricia Peabody of Seattle, moved here in 1963. A year later he led 11 other candidates in the statewide race for Democratic national committeeman from Florida.

This year he jumped into the race for mayor, insisting that he intended to make this predominantly Jewish city of 70,000 his home. He also disclaimed interest in higher office.

Richard, a native of Brooklyn and a year younger than Roosevelt, called attention to his 14 years on the City Council, being married to the same woman for 24 years and leading a campaign to rid the city of an entrenched gambling syndicate.

Sherri Lynch, 18, and Patty Lloyd, 17, both of McCoy Ave., were treated at City Hospital Saturday night after their car overturned twice along Route 170, two miles south of Negley.

Officers said Miss Lynch was driving a 1962 sedan which went off the left side of the road at a curve and overturned about 10 p. m. There was moderate damage to the car. She was charged with traveling at a speed in excess of safe conditions.

Tammy Sue Gilkinson, 2, daughter of David Gilkinson of Westfield Rd., and Mrs. Jean Phillips of Avon were hurt in a two-car mishap on Dresden Ave. Ext. at the Pearl China Co. Sunday afternoon at 3:40.

The child was a passenger in a car driven by Karen Gilkinson, 22, of Westfield which collided with one operated by Norman Phillips, 60, of Avon.

The patrol said Phillips drove his 1964 car from a parking area on the west side of the road to the east side of the road and was struck by the 1956 sedan of the woman.

Mrs. Phillips, 53, suffered abrasions of the back of the head, and the child received a bruise of the head. Both were treated at the hospital.

Phillips was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Three people were hurt in a two-car crash on County Rd. 421 a half-mile east of Route 7 Saturday, officers said.

A car operated by Donald Dodd, 64, of New Waterford collided with another driven by Ellen Pitzer, 35, of Rogers.

Dodd was attempting to make a left turn into a private drive and collided with the oncoming 1962 sedan of the woman, the patrol said.

Both drivers and a passenger in the woman's car, Phyllis Pitzer, 15, were injured. Dodd was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Harry Ferrall, 70, of Leetonia was cited for driving left of center after his car collided with one operated by Robert Bycroft, 75, of East Palestine R. D. 1 on Township Rd. 882 a mile east of Route 7 Sunday at 3 p. m. Officers said Ferrall came over a hill crest left of center, and his 1960 sedan collided with Bycroft's oncoming 1959 sedan.

Neither was hurt, the patrol said.

Keep In Trim

How Much Do You Eat After Dinner?

Is night - eating from habit or hunger? This nocturnal pastime has been termed the night-eating syndrome, but that's just a fancy phrase to give importance to a common problem.

Ida Jean Kain

After an adequate dinner, the hankering for food can't be true hunger. Some of you report ruefully that you eat all evening long. This habit, in many cases, can be traced to restless boredom. It's easy to fall into the habit of going in search of something to eat just to while the time away.

—:—

THE TEST of whether eating at night is habit or hunger is this: Do you eat at night only on special occasions, or do you routinely raid the refrigerator? If you are up late and have had an active evening of square dancing or bowling or the like, you may feel hungry, and a snack is in order. You are in control if you take night snacks only when true hunger demands.

Compulsive eating is quite different. One overweight, trying to break the habit, explained that she went to the refrigerator at least a dozen times in one evening. This habit in many instances is associated with dissatisfaction with life. Or, it can stem from some unsolved emotional problem or conflict. Overeating will not solve the problem, so obviously it is not the answer. The problem is not being solved and all the time the habit is being strengthened.

So, what to do? Try to figure out what is troubling you underneath. Some people find that worry makes them "eat like crazy." Worry is ineffectual, so it's easy to eat something to take your mind off the worry. This, too, is habit forming.

It does little good to say to yourself, however sternly, "I'll stop eating at night." A better plan is to think through your whole pattern. If you are a working wife, it may be you are trying to do too many chores in the evening. Feeling sorry for yourself, you eat as a reward. You may reason, "I deserve this," fixing a sandwich and then finishing up the cake left from dinner. Actually, this is no favor to yourself, since you want to lose weight, not gain.

WHEN YOU are willing to reason through the situation, you gain insight into the cause of the excess eating. This a mature way of dealing with the problem. Having faced the facts, you are in a better position to change your actions.

The night - eating habit is merely a way of attempting to make up for something you are missing. The happiest way to change and get out of the clutches of habit is to make plans for interesting evenings. When your mind is diverted, you won't be plagued by the hankering for food. This is a scientific fact.

Sen. Clark Plans Filibuster In Issue On Apportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

FILIBUSTER PROMISED: Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Sunday he intends to filibuster against a proposed consitutional amendment aimed at blocking apportionment of state legislatures on a one-man, one-vote basis.

Clark said on a television-radio program taped with Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., that he believes between 30 and 40 members of the Senate will join in an effort to talk the proposal to death.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has proposed an amendment which would permit voters in each state to determine whether one house could be apportioned on geographical, as well as population, factors.

PRICE CUTTING: Legislation to permit business men to sue price cutting competitors bent on driving them out of business was scheduled Sunday for Senate hearings June 21-23.

The bill would authorize civil suits for triple damages and cease-and-desist orders against companies which "sell or contract to sell goods at unreasonably low prices for the purpose of destroying competition or eliminating a competitor."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee said the bill's objective is to "give effect to the legislative intent of Congress to enlist the aid of the private business man in assisting the enforcement of the antitrust laws."

He said section 3 of the Robinson-Patman Act already "forbids this unfair competitive practice" but provides only for criminal prosecution initiated by the government and a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and a year in jail.

—:—

AFL-CIO AND TIRES: The AFL-CIO asked Congress Sunday to establish basic safety standards for automobile tires, calling present grading and labeling practices a "confusing mish-mash."

In a letter to Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee, the AFL-CIO endorsed a tire-standards bill now before that committee.

Andrew J. Biemiller, AFL-CIO legislative director, wrote it "is impossible for the tire buyer to make an intelligent choice among competing brands." He added that tire dealers are equally handicapped.

Links Crown To Crampton

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bruce Crampton, handsome iron man from Australia, vaulted into the second PGA money-winning spot with a pressurized one-stroke victory at the $87,000 Speedway Festival Open Sunday.

Crampton shook off a triple bogey 7 on the 425-yard fifth hole at Greentree Country Club and then finished with a par 71 after an approach from 200 yards to within four feet of the 18th pin for a par 5 worth about $7,300.

Crampton finished with 279, five under and one stroke ahead of fast-finishing Jackie Cupit and Lionel Hebert to spear the $15,200 top prize.

The triumph boosted Crampton's earnings in 19 of 20 PGA starts this year to $43,095 in official money, just behind the pace-setting $47,950 by Jack Nicklaus, who skipped this tourney.

Lionel Hebert, last a winner in the 1962 Memphis tourney, finished a threesome ahead of Crampton with a 70 for a 280 total.

Cupit, playing in the final threesome with Crampton, also put great pressure on the Aussie with a closing birdie 4 after reaching the 560-yard green in two to post a 69.

Cupit and Hebert split the second and third money, collecting $6,625 each.

The roof seemed to collapse on Crampton, 54-hole leader by two strokes when he drove into three-foot deep rough off the 18th tee and then hacked the ball only a foot on his second shot.

500 At Services For Wellsville

More than 500 attended baccalaureate services for the graduating class of Wellsville High School Sunday night at Beacom Memorial gymnasium.

The Rev. James Sanko of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church delivered the sermon.

Expanding on the topic, "Green Years," he said that "green can mean envy, spring, inexperience or a promise of abundance. Life need not be empty, a bore, routine or uninteresting. It can be a full, rich and rewarding if you bear in mind these four points.

"Your time left on earth is limited. You should look at your self both close up and at a distance. Maintain a proper set of values. Without God there is no hope in this life or the next," he told the class.

Salem Man's Injured Accidentally By Bullet

LISBON — A 22-year-old Salem man was shot accidentally Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at Lake Copacia, south of Salem, off Depot Rd., according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

Franklin Copacia of 383 S. Ellsworth St., told Deputy James Gause that he was picking up brush at the lake, while wearing an open holster with a .357 Magnum revolver, when a branch hit the hammer and it discharged, the bullet striking him in the right leg between the knee and ankle.

He was taken to Salem Central Clinic and was reported in good condition.

Fled Hospital With 3 Hostages

Bloodhounds, Helicopter Officers Hunt 5 Escapees

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — Bloodhounds, a helicopter and scores of officers searched Sunday for five inmates who forced their way out of the Fulton State Hospital on Saturday night after seizing three attendants as hostages.

Officers reported no good trace of the men had been found more than 11 hours after they overpowered ward attendants in a maximum security building. The men had been accused of crimes ranging from stealing to rape and murder.

The prisoners released the attendants after using them as hostages to get an outside gate opened. The prisoners fled on foot. Two of the hostages were slightly injured.

Bloodhounds were set loose on tracks, presummably made by the men, east of Fulton but the lead proved fruitless. The Missouri Highway Patrol said the dogs were taken off the hunt temporarily after all leads were exhausted.

A close watch was kept on all roads in this north-central Missoui area by patrolmen, Fulton police and sheriff's officers of several counties.

The attendants seized were George Lorenz, Doyle Hull and Walter Krebs. The prisoners hit Hull with an iron pipe but he returned to work Sunday. Lorenz was treated for stomach cut.

The hospital identified the escapees as Emmet Nave, 24, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Charles D. Payne, 27, of Birmingham, Ala.; Otis Wayne Hibdon, 25, of Kansas City; Donald Anderson, 22, of Independence, Mo., and Irvin Bruce Cape, 20, of Kansas City.

Nave, a Negro, was charged with statutory rape and armed robbery at the Holiday Inn near Kansas City's Municipal Airport. Payne was in the institution for pretrial examination on a second-degree murder charge.

Eight attended a dance afterward at the home. Refreshments were served.

KKK Continuing Rally With Speeches, Picnic

By JAAN KANGILASKI
Associated Press Writer

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan planned Sunday to continue their Memorial Day weekend rally with more speeches and a picnic on a farm near Oregonia in northern Warren County.

The rally began Friday night with a speech by Imperial Wizard James F. Venable of Atlanta, Ga., and Saturday night the klansmen burned a 30-foot cross in a field 50 yards from the edge of interstate 71.

Some 300 persons attended the cross burning — about 100 more than were present Friday night. Close to 50 newsmen were on hand both nights. There were also strong contingents from nearby colleges.

Grand Emperor Hugh Morris of Buchanan, Ga., said after the cross burning that attendance at the rally has been disappointing but that "we have planted the germ here . . . the people of Ohio know now the Klan still exists."

Timbers for another cross lay on the field near the burning site, but there seemed some doubt a second ceremony Monday night would come off.

Only a few klansmen in full regalia have appeared at the rally. Only six were in sight when the cross burned — three men with their faces covered, Venable, Morris and G. H. Hill, an elderly klansman who said he was an evangelist preacher and joined the Klan in 1915.

A table where people could sign up for the Klan was set up under trees in the farm's back yard. Quite a few people went up to it. Some Klan sources said 200 persons had signed up, but this could not be verified.

So far, the rally had passed without serious incident. Warren County sheriff's deputies averted a possible fight between college students and klan supporters Friday night. Saturday night, the deputies blocked the road after the cross was burned and said they turned away many carloads of college students.

Daniel J. Wagner, 19, Baltimore, Md., remained in jail in lieu of $10,000 bond on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested Friday evening.

The sheriff's department said two young Cincinnati men were arrested Saturday night when their car did not stop at a check point. They were identified as William F. Zech, 22, booked for failure to obey the signal of an officer, and Peter William Halme, 23 charged with public intoxication.

You Can Trace Origin Of House

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Restoring an old house can be fun though it is a long, tedious project.

Knowing how to achieve authenticity is a giant step in the right direction.

Every town and community seems to be interested in preserving something these days—the old school house, a famous landmark, a home.

That awareness makes the prospective owner of an old house eager to keep it within the framework of the original architect when he is remodeling it.

Time was when one was just satisfied to own a house dated 1690 or 1740. But now one is likely to wonder if the "El" was there originally or if the 6 over 6 window panes are the original ones.

—:—

CLUES TO how to go about solving these problems were noted in a talk given by architectural historian Antoinette Forrester Downing to members of the American Institute of Interior Designers.

Though she was concentrating on the home that may become a museum home, explaining how it is researched for restoration of its historic interior, her ideas may help in other situations, such as remodeling of an old home.

Land records can reveal when the house was built, by whom and in what kind of society, she says. This information may be found in town and family histories.

When were changes made to the house? This is found by studying the building itself with a knowledge of characteristics of each period.

She studies maps of the property, history of ownership the kind of people the owners were — their families, interests, portraits, activities.

Tax records reveal when a building was put on the land, additions and expensive changes that were made that resulted in a tax jump. Tax records also often give the number of windows, the number and size of panes of glass for each window.

—:—

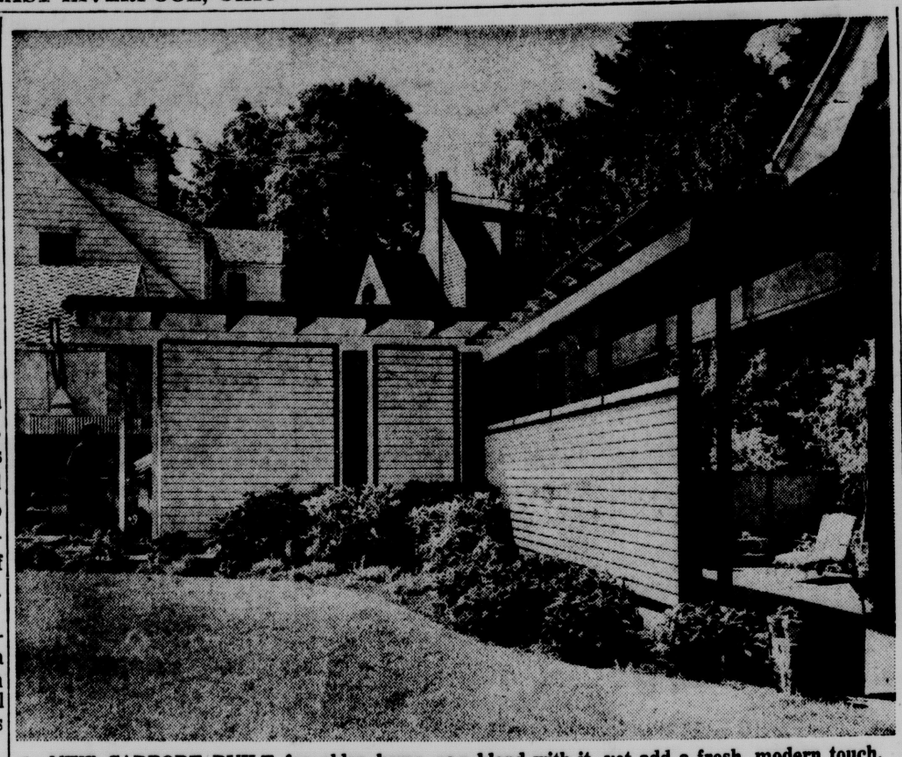
INSURANCE records generally describe the property and a series of insurance records can tell much about the physical history of the house, she points out.

She also looks for plans, building papers, account books that may have been kept during construction, names of workmen and their account books, bills and any drawings connected with the building.

Material about the locale in general is helpful. Ditto architectural characteristics of the area. She collects drawings and photographs of all periods of the building that she can find, plus illustrative material of similar buildings to use for comparison and to help fill in information gaps.

That is just the beginning. Later she takes household inventories, room by room inventories which may give clues as to how each room was furnished.

Whether you become very technical about the reshaping of the house or whether you are merely curious, it is enlightening to study the facets that reveal a house's age.



NEW CARPORT BUILT for older home can blend with it, yet add a fresh, modern touch. This one is separated from house, with connecting covered walkway designed as privacy wall for rear terrace. Bevel cedar siding matches house, but is sandalwood shade with trim picking up home's chocolate brown color.

When you think how dependent modern America is on wheels, it's amazing to realize how many fine homes of fairly recent vintage were built without a garage.

Even homes dating fewer than 10 years frequently have covered space for only one car — and that often is too snug for comfort today.

If this is your problem, the best course of action may be to cash in your chips and start anew. The old, too-small garage can be converted to valuable space for a family room, bedroom, or library. On the other hand, if land is reasonably level, building a new double - size garage is a relatively inexpensive project.

THE GARAGE site is an important consideration. If the lot is narrow but deep in front, the garage can be brought forward and incorporated into the entrance plan.

A wide but shallow lot dictates a garage set to one side of the house. A narrow lot with a shallow front yard and a deep back yard would call for a garage in the back, with the driveway run along one side of the house.

In all cases, the new garage can be an architectural asset to the home. Always, it should be designed to complement the house styling, although a crisply modern garage may be used successfully with a turn-of-the-century house. To blend, the siding pattern should be the same, and the color of the house repeated either for the entire garage or for prominent trim.

FOR EXAMPLE, the garage can be built on a post - and-beam system with western red cedar bevel siding to match bevel siding on the house.

Then, if the house is a dark shade, say a chocolate, which might be undesirable for the garage, this shade can be used for the exposed posts, beams and other trim, while the siding is painted a soft cafe au lait.

Consider, also, using a covered walkway to further tie the two structures together. Again the simple but attractive post - and - beam system can be used. The walkway can include, as well, a low wall on one side to screen a side yard or rear terrace, allowing development of this space for outdoor living.

If guest parking might be a problem at your home, design the driveway in a fan shape to provide off - street parking. It takes only slightly more space than a regular double - width driveway, but can allow room for as many as four cars in addition to garage space and the driveway's center strip.

Alkali Proves Peril To Paint With Oil Base

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Alkali is an enemy of conventional oil-base paints. It is present in concrete and in the mortar used in the joints of brick and stone construction.

If you're painting the outside of a house with concrete, brick or stone surfaces, therefore, it is important to use coverings which are not affected by alkali.

Paints in this category include exterior latex meant for use on masonry; solvent-thinned resins such as used on swimming pools; portland cements, and what are called reinforced masonry paints.

The one time when an oil-base paint may be used is on a surface whose previous coating is in very excellent condition, soundly attached and with no signs of peeling or other visible defects.

Portland cement paints not only must be applied to a damp surface, but must be kept wet while curing. But they should not be applied over paints of a different type.

Exterior latex can be used on either dry or wet surfaces, according to the directions on most paint cans, but our experience has been that it seems to "take" better when the masonry is dry. Solvent thinned resins should be applied to dry surfaces.

Since concrete blocks are porous, they should be given an exterior prime coat before applying the regular paint.

Cinder blocks are a special case, as they contain both alkali and acid. The swimming pool paints or solvent-thinned resins mentioned above are recommended for these blocks, as well as for slag blocks.

Before painting any concrete or masonry, be sure to fill any cracks or damaged joints.

It is also important to remove any white deposits on the outside of bricks. This condition is known as efflorescence and is caused by inside moisture which pushes out the soluble salts.

Hancock Agent Offers Tips For Eliminating Of Pests

Oliver Johnson, Hancock County agricultural extension agent, recommends methods for minimizing the destructive effects of several pests that make their presence felt each year about this time.

The first call pertaining to the locust came from the Brooke County area of Marlin Heights, Johnson reported.

They started to emerge from the ground and climb up on the trunks of trees on May 16. Two days later they began to fly. The locust is harmless to people and animals, but in the egg-laying process may be damaging to your fruit trees and ornamentals.

Where one has only a few small trees and newly - set shrubs, the simplest procedure is to cover them with mosquito netting during the egg-laying period. An alternate method is to spray every five to six days with Sevin, using two tablespoons of 50 per cent Sevin to each gallon of water, Johnson said.

Tent caterpillars are showing up again this year in small numbers. In another two or three years another epidemic could occur, however. This possibility may be minimized by destroying the few tents appearing now.

Green aphids are abundant on roses and chrysanthemums. A light dusting with 5 per cent Malathion dust or a spray prepared from the concentrated liquid form will assure control, Johnson continued. A second application is sometimes needed in three to five days.

The little black flea - beetle is making holes in the early set tomato plants. Sevin or DDT will take care of this pest.

Johnson says that rabbits are one of his greatest problems. In an effort to prevent them from eating green beans, he dusted with Sevin and sulphur, to no avail. He had to resort to the old reliable method of whitening the plants with hydrated lime. A handy way to accomplish this is to put a few cupfuls in a burlap bag and shake it over the plants while walking along the row, he says.

Clover mites are another pest. They move from the lawn up the sides of the house and through any little crack or crevice into the home.

They are harmless, but a nuisance. They can be cleaned up from window sills with an aerosol bomb. The base of the home outdoors and the adjoining edge of the lawn may be sprayed with Malathion, Aramite or Dimite.

Building Permits Include 3 Homes

New construction and remodeling estimated to cost $72,870 got under way in East Liverpool in May, including three new homes.

Mayor Merrill D. Hall's office issued 21 permits for the building work, as well as authorizations for demolition of two existing structures.

The estimated dollar value of the May work is down $119,455 from the $192,325 listed in April. Two major projects totaling $140,000 accounted for the bulk of the April permits.

—:—

THE ESTIMATED value of the three homes authorized in May totals $35,500. In addition, an oil concern received a permit to build a new service station estimated to cost $12,000.

Nine of the permits were for $500 or less, representing principally household repair and remodeling work.

Here are the May permits, the persons to whom they were issued, the work authorized and the estimated cost of each job:

Here Are Ideas On Care Of Home

Question: I will be shopping soon for aluminum combination screens and storm windows, as well as doors of the same type. I have never used them before and I would like to know whether there is some way of telling whether I am getting my money's worth?

Answer: First, the old but always important advice; make your purchase from a reputable dealer.

The Insect Wire Screening Bureau has a five-point check list which it suggests for prospective buyers: (1) examine cut-away sections of the frames in the dealer's showroom to be sure construction is sturdy; (2) look out for poor fits, open miters and dirt-catching corners; (3) be sure the glass in the storm panels is sealed tightly all around and be certain the glass is heavy and has no distorting flaws; (4) test display models to make sure the self - storing panels open and close easily; (5) check to see whether you are getting aluminum screening as well as frames, since this mesh doesn't rust or fade and is made under a U.S. Commerce Department standard for quality. Incidentally, the screening now comes in green and charcoal gray as well as the standard clear finish.

Wiping Mesh With Oil Will Help Foil Insects

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

During the early part of the summer season, many home owners in the suburbs and in actual country regions are plagued with swarms of insects so small they can penetrate the mesh of the average screen covering window or door.

And, if cooking is going on in the house, the insects follow along the trail with still greater speed and in greater numbers. These swarms are fortunately very short - lived, but while still active can be a great nuisance.

The screening used in most houses is a standard mesh size, made with due consideration for the fact that a closer or finer mesh would prevent the free circulation of air. But it is helpless against the type of insects in question.

However, a method has been devised to reduce the size of the mesh temporarily during the small - insect season. This consists of wiping the mesh freely with a heavy oil, such as castor oil or linseed oil.

This reduces the openings of the screening far more than might be imagined and, in addition, an insect need only touch the tip of a wing to the oily wires to become stuck fast, there and then.

The oil should not be applied so heavily as to drip from the screen. It will not harm the wire or the paint of the screen frame. When no longer required, it can be removed with a cloth moistened with turpentine.

President Johnson announced Symington's appointment Sunday.

Symington, 37, will take the post June 1. A former government official, he now is in private law practice in Washington.

Indians, Teen-Agers Dance And Rain Falls

LOVINGTON, N. M. (AP) — Indians danced ancient rituals and teen-agers danced the Watusi, Swim, Mashed Potato at a festival to bring rain to communities in southeastern New Mexico.

The Philip Whitecloud Indian troupe of Albuquerque and the Lovington teen - agers waited all day Saturday.

Sunday and Monday rain fell. It wasn't much, .15 of an inch. "But it's more than any of us have been able to bring," said a nearby Hobbs resident, where no measurable amounts of rain had been reported for more than a month.

Building Permits Include 3 Homes

New construction and remodeling estimated to cost $72,870 got under way in East Liverpool in May, including three new homes.

Mayor Merrill D. Hall's office issued 21 permits for the building work, as well as authorizations for demolition of two existing structures.

The estimated dollar value of the May work is down $119,455 from the $192,325 listed in April. Two major projects totaling $140,000 accounted for the bulk of the April permits.

—:—

THE ESTIMATED value of the three homes authorized in May totals $35,500. In addition, an oil concern received a permit to build a new service station estimated to cost $12,000.

Nine of the permits were for $500 or less, representing principally household repair and remodeling work.

Here are the May permits, the persons to whom they were issued, the work authorized and the estimated cost of each job:

Don Smith, to remodel a dwelling at 1036 Riverview St., $1,000.

Atlantic Refining Co., to erect a service station at 1814 Lisbon St., $12,000.

Mrs. William Dabler, to construct a porch on a home at 901 Bradshaw Ave., $200.

Adam Mort, to construct a stairway and a door on a two-story dwelling at 778 Dresden Ave., $180.

Kenneth Basham, to remodel a porch on a home at 736 Sophia St., $200.

Friendship Gospel Tabernacle, to install a new roof on its church on W. 7th St., $200.

Floyd Cox, to remodel the front of Allen's Shoe Store, 517 Washington St., $4,000.

Claude Clark, to erect a three-car garage at 137 Fawcett St., $3,500.

John E. Johnston, to remodel a garage and install a new driveway at 307 W. 5th St., $1,000.

—:—

ELMER MATHENY, to erect a frame home on N. Shady Ln. Dr., $7,500.

Joseph F. Gebauer, to remodel a bathroom in a home at 315 Vine St., $250.

John Tomlison, to remodel a home at 1818 Michigan Ave., $4,000.

Robert Francis, to erect a cement block garage at 1912 Lisbon St., $500.

Phil Miraglata Jr., to erect a story-and-a-half home at 444 Orchard Grove Ave., $18,000.

W. W. Travis, to erect a building on Wooster Ave., $4,500.

Kenneth Alloway, to erect a garage at 1012 Locust St., $390.

Joseph Kenney, to remodel a porch at 725 Cadmus St., $1,100.

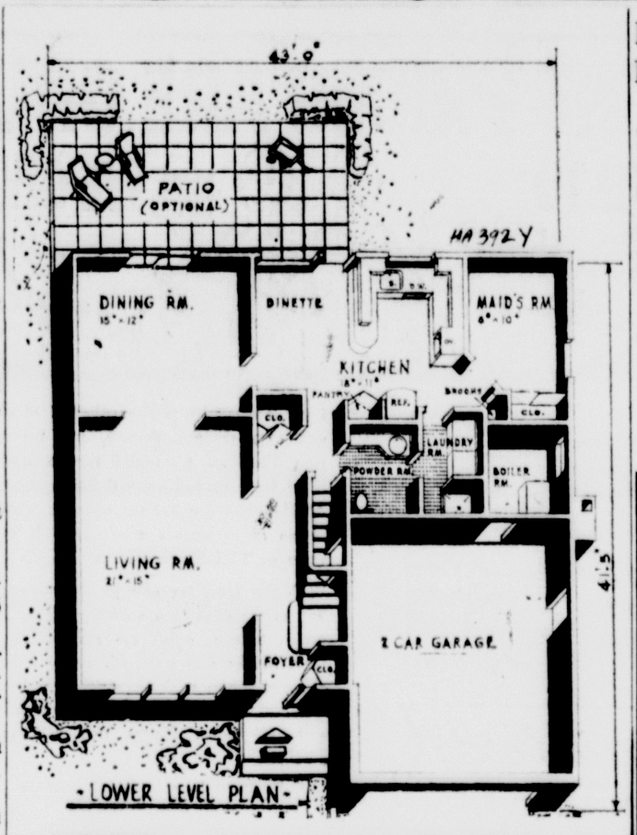
Mrs. Clarence Campbell, to repair a doorway and install new floors in a house at 110 Riverview St., $200.

Chester Brown, to erect a new home on Lisbon St., $10,000.

Mrs. Grace Wedgewood, to erect new porches on a home at 530-532 Virginia Ave., $150.

Howard Bosworth was given authorization to tear down a garage at 1630 Pennsylvania Ave.

Fred Lilly received a permit to tear down a building at 679 Riley Ave.



MODIFIED one-and-a-half story home, Plan HA392Y, easily fits on a 60-foot-wide lot. A split level effect is created by lifting the studio level half a flight above the main level. The studio room boasts a cathedral ceiling, 10 feet high at the center. The centrally located foyer also has a cathedral ceiling, giving an impressive view of the studio room and its corner fireplace upon entry. Square footage is 1,164 on the first floor, 420, studio room level, and 943, second floor. Architect is Herman H. York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432.

Here Are Ideas On Care Of Home

Question: I will be shopping soon for aluminum combination screens and storm windows, as well as doors of the same type. I have never used them before and I would like to know whether there is some way of telling whether I am getting my money's worth?

Answer: First, the old but always important advice; make your purchase from a reputable dealer.

The Insect Wire Screening Bureau has a five-point check list which it suggests for prospective buyers: (1) examine cut-away sections of the frames in the dealer's showroom to be sure construction is sturdy; (2) look out for poor fits, open miters and dirt-catching corners; (3) be sure the glass in the storm panels is sealed tightly all around and be certain the glass is heavy and has no distorting flaws; (4) test display models to make sure the self - storing panels open and close easily; (5) check to see whether you are getting aluminum screening as well as frames, since this mesh doesn't rust or fade and is made under a U.S. Commerce Department standard for quality. Incidentally, the screening now comes in green and charcoal gray as well as the standard clear finish.

Indians, Teen-Agers Dance And Rain Falls

LOVINGTON, N. M. (AP) — Indians danced ancient rituals and teen-agers danced the Watusi, Swim, Mashed Potato at a festival to bring rain to communities in southeastern New Mexico.

The Philip Whitecloud Indian troupe of Albuquerque and the Lovington teen - agers waited all day Saturday.

Sunday and Monday rain fell. It wasn't much, .15 of an inch. "But it's more than any of us have been able to bring," said a nearby Hobbs resident, where no measurable amounts of rain had been reported for more than a month.

Wiping Mesh With Oil Will Help Foil Insects

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

During the early part of the summer season, many home owners in the suburbs and in actual country regions are plagued with swarms of insects so small they can penetrate the mesh of the average screen covering window or door.

And, if cooking is going on in the house, the insects follow along the trail with still greater speed and in greater numbers. These swarms are fortunately very short - lived, but while still active can be a great nuisance.

The screening used in most houses is a standard mesh size, made with due consideration for the fact that a closer or finer mesh would prevent the free circulation of air. But it is helpless against the type of insects in question.

However, a method has been devised to reduce the size of the mesh temporarily during the small - insect season. This consists of wiping the mesh freely with a heavy oil, such as castor oil or linseed oil.

This reduces the openings of the screening far more than might be imagined and, in addition, an insect need only touch the tip of a wing to the oily wires to become stuck fast, there and then.

The oil should not be applied so heavily as to drip from the screen. It will not harm the wire or the paint of the screen frame. When no longer required, it can be removed with a cloth moistened with turpentine.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: My wife is a Heloise fan so this idea is a weak attempt at the self-preservation of my kitchen status!

If meat ball fans will take their favorite recipe and roll it or pat it out to the desired thickness, then cut it into squares, the meat balls can be formed with speed and uniformity.

Also, if they are to be used in a recipe with thickened gravy, such as Swedish or German meat balls, it helps to roll them around gently in a paper bag with flour in it, after they have been formed.

G.

PS: I read your column when she is not looking . . . .I'll bet that other men do, too! This is probably not worth printing. It is more of an "I think that you are doing a good job" testimony.

As you can see, I felt that it is worth printing, and I thank you kindly, sir, for the hint and the bouquet!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever had to discard your pressed powder compact because, (no matter how clean you keep the puff), accumulated oils from your foundation cream created hard - packed spots?

Simply store the puff upside down in the compact, and the powder stays soft to the very bottom.

MRS. E. D. MARTIN.

You deserve a gold star for this amazingly simple idea!!

When I think of all the pressed powder I have wasted by scraping off that hard, oil-soaked top . . .

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I was delighted to read about the school teacher who cut the large numbers from the calendar, laid them on a table and arranged them to form problems for teaching primary arithmetic.

I have been doing this.

Believe me, you will be surprised to find how easy it is to teach children to recognize the letters, then to spell.

DOROTHY THIBAULT.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I have a double oven stove . . . one oven has a window, the other does not.

I try to do all my messy baking and broiling in the oven without the window.

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When a toddler is old enough to be taken from the crib to a single bed, the first week or so is the hardest on them (and so is the floor!).

To eliminate bumps, bruises, etc., put one side of the bed against a wall, then take the mattress from the crib and place it on the floor next to the bed. If the tot falls off the bed during the night, he lands on the crib mattress without hurting himself.

During the day, the crib mattress can be tucked away under the single bed until needed.

"PAL."

DEAR HELOISE: The drapes on the sunny side of the living room were always becoming sun streaked.

The last time I made new ones, I bought material which had no up-and-down design and put hems of the same width in both the top and the bottom of the drapes.

Every couple of months, I take the drapes off the rods and hang them up side down.

This way they face more evenly, so it is less noticeable.

KAY R.

Along The Streets Of Washington

Smallpox Touches Off Manhunt

By JAMES CARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since May 20 a small army of men has worked desperately behind the scenes to track down a potential killer walking the streets of Washington.

Their work is almost done. But eight more days remain before it will be known whether the nation's first confirmed smallpox case since 1949 has spread to other victims.

As of Saturday night the District of Columbia's public health department had located and vaccinated 999 of the 1,028 persons known to have been exposed.

The next four days of the danger period are the most crucial, but the health department is hoping its good luck will hold and the 20-bed isolation ward established at D.C. General Hospital will not have to be used.

The dramatic story of the diagnosis of the case and the man-hunt that followed was reported in detail Sunday by The Washington Post.

It all began about 9 a.m. Thursday, May 20 at the emergency room of the Washington Hospital Center, the Post said, and added these details:

Dr. William C. Flanagan, 27, an intern, was examining a woman whose body was dotted with 40 small lesions. It looked like chicken-pox, but Flanagan was suspicious.

The woman, an 30-year-old African, had arrived in Washington just two weeks before from Accra, Ghana.

Dr. James Curtin, director of medical education at the hospital center was summoned, then several other doctors. They agreed. There was something different.

Dr. Murray Grant, director of public health, was notified and he sent Dr. Stanley P. Porton, a health department physicians, to the center.

Porton examined the women and found something the others missed — an eruption in the woman's mouth. Yes, he said, it might be smallpox.

The woman was transferred to D.C. hospital. She was running a mild fever of 99 degrees, complained of a headache, and had an achy, sick feeling.

She was placed in a private room. The ward was sealed off, and a massive effort to head off a possible epidemic began. She was questioned.

Her story: She had been vaccinated for smallpox before she left Accra May 6 to join her husband here, but the vaccination could have been ineffective. She had also been vaccinated as a child but that immunity would have worn off.

She arrived in Washington May 7. May 16 she became ill. Three days later a rash broke out and the next day, May 20, her husband took her to the hospital. They rode in a taxi.

Smallpox is contagious only a few days before the symptoms appear when incubation is well advanced. The medical investigators determined she had only been contagious since May 15.

Their job now was to locate every person she had been in contact with during the five days, May 15 to May 20.

They also had to find the persons who had been in close contact with those who had been near her.

Vaccinations began, at the hospital, at hospital center, among her African friends. Every person she could recall being near was hunted down. The numbers mounted. By last Tuesday 542 persons had been vaccinated. The search was going well, then hit a snag.

A hospital center physician who had examined the woman was on vacation. And the taxi driver who had brought her to the center could not be found.

Massachusetts state police combed 85 motels and hotels without luck in the hunt for the doctor. He was found at the 86th.

The taxi driver was another matter.

And while health investigators examined cab company records and questioned hundreds of drivers, a final and definite diagnosis of smallpox came back from tests conducted by the U.S. Public Health Service's communicable disease center in Atlanta.

The search for the taxi driver was carried to the streets. Other drivers were questioned. For two days there were no leads.

Then shortly after 8 p.m. Wednesday, investigator Tom Ledbetter talked to a driver who thought he knew the man. He provided the address.

Ledbetter raced to the man's home.

Yes, the 66-year-old driver acknowledged, he was the driver. He had feared to come forward earlier thinking he would be quarantined and lose his job.

The end of the trail now is in sight, although the hunt still is on for those few still missing.

Engaged Couple Among 5 Killed In 2-Car Wreck

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — A young couple who planned to marry next month were among five persons killed late Saturday night in a two-car smashup near this north central Ohio community. Two persons were injured in the crash.

The Ohio Highway Patrol listed the dead as:

John Hayman, 20, Carey, Ohio, one of the drivers; his fiance, Judith Lucius, 18, Tiffin; and one of thier two passengers, Maxine Shively, 18, of near Forest, Ohio; and two passengers in the second car, Helen L. Eby, 58, and Jacqueline Eby, 16, both of Marion, Ohio.

Injured were James Nye, 20, of Carey, a passenger in the Hayman car, and John Crissinger, 52, of Marion, driver of the second car. Nye was reported in serious condition at a Marion hospital but Crissinger, transferred to Grant Hospital in Columbus, was listed in critical condition.

The patrol said the crash occurred at the intersection of Ohio 53 and Wyandot County Rd. 47 about 1½ miles north of here. The Hayman car, headed east, was struck in the right side by the north-bound Crissinger car, the patrol said.

Eritrea, an Italian colony for 67 years, stretches for 670 miles along the African coast of the Red Sea from Cape Kasar to Cape Dumereh.

Pirates Bomb Mets Twice, Hike Victory Streak To 10

Friend, Law Hurl Complete Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates extended their winning streak to 10 games Sunday, clobbering the New York Mets 9-1 and 12-0 behind the senior members of their pitching staff, Bob Friend and Vernon Law.

The streak, coming after an eight-game losing string, equals the longest in the majors this year. Houston also won 10 in a row.

Friend, in his 15th year with the Pirates, stopped the Mets on five hits in the opener, he struck out four and didn't walk a man, evening his record at 3-3.

Law, a 14-year veteran, blanked New York on six hits while striking out seven and walking none for his second victory against five defeats.

Friend retired the first 12 Mets before Ed Kranepool singled, leading off the fifth inning. Kranepool went to second on a ground out and scored on Joe Christopher's single, tying the game 1-1.

The Pirates snapped the deadlock in the sixth, scoring two runs with the help of two errors by shortstop Roy McMillan and one by center fielder Johnny Lewis.

The Pirates backed Law in the nightcap with home runs by Gene Alley with one on, Jim Pagliaroni with two on and Willie Stargell and Bob Bailey, each with the bases empty.

Roberto Clemente rapped four hits in nine at-bats in the doubleheader, giving him a total of 11 for 19 and raising his average 37 points to .308 in the four-game series.

The Pirates, five percentage points behind the Mets in last place in the National League, when the series started, left four games ahead of them.

Skinner's Muff Gives Giants 3-2 Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Skinner dropped a high fly by pinch hitter Willie Mays with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning, letting Frank Linzy score with the winning run as the San Francisco Giants edged St. Louis 3-2 Sunday.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Giants and also extended the Cardinals' losing streak to four.

Cardinal ace Bob Gibson, now 8-2, took a four-hitter into the 10th but Hal Lanier's and Dick Schofield's singles and an intentional walk to Willie McCovey filled the bases with two out. Manager Herman Franks sent Mays to bat for Jim Hart. Willie had been kept out of the starting lineup because of a heavy cold and high fever.

Matty Alou had bailed the Giants out of a jam in the top of the 10th with a sensational running catch of a 400-foot drive by Tim McCarver. There were two on base at the time.

The Cardinals had tied the score 2-2 with an eighth inning run as Curt Flood singled, stole second, took third on a grounder and scored on McCarver's sacrifice fly.

Koufax Fans 13 Reds In 12-5 Dodger Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax allowed five hits and struck out 13 as the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the Cincinnati Reds 12-5.

Koufax' strikeouts increased his career total to 1,802, one more than teammate Don Drysdale reached Saturday.

Koufax coasted to his seventh victory against three defeats.

A sixth-inning error by Jim LeFebvre and a collision between Dodger outfielders Al Ferrara and Lou Johnson helped Cincinnati scored four runs, three of them unearned.

The Dodgers pounded four Cincinnati pitchers for 13 hits, handing the Reds their fifth straight defeat.

John Roseboro drove in three runs with three singles. Maury Wills and Ron Fairly each knocked in two runs with a single and double while Dick Tracewski contributed a two-run single and Wes Parker a two-run triple.

Willie Davis had a single and double before leaving the game in the fourth inning with a muscle cramp in his right leg.

Banks Pounds 3 Hits In Cubs' 4-1 Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ernie Banks hammered three hits, including his 10th home run, and drove in two runs, leading the Chicago Cubs to a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

Lefty Dick Ellsworth earned his sixth triumph against three losses, limiting the Phillies to seven hits. A three-run sixth inning against Philly starter Ray Herbert and reliever Jack Baldschun snapped a three-game Chicago losing streak.

Billy Williams singled with one out, went to third on Ron Santo's single and scored on Banks' single to center. Santo took third from where he came home on a force play. A wild pitch and sacrifice fly allowed Banks to come home.

Banks hit a home run in the second inning, giving the Cubs a 1-0 lead. The Phils tied the score in the third on a walk, a single by Cookie Rojas and an error by Banks as he charged John Callison's sharp grounder.

The two runs batted in increased Banks' National League leading total to 44.

Alou connected leading off the fifth inning, and after Ed Mathews singled, Aaron hit his sixth homer of the season pulling the Braves out front 5-3.

The Astros had pulled ahead in the fourth when Joe Gaines singled to left with two men on and the ball got by Rico Carty, allowing all three runners to score.

Wade Blasingame got the victory, his fifth against four losses, but needed Billy O'Dell's one-hit relief help over the final 3 1-3 innings.

22 Veterans, 11 Rookies Warned On Dangerous Start Of 500 Race

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —The 22 veterans and 11 rookies who will blast off Monday in the 49th 500-mile Memorial Day auto race heard their traditional warning Sunday that the flying start is the most dangerous part of the contest.

It had more impact than in past years because of the explosive second-lap pile-up last year which killed Eddie Sachs and David MacDonald and took seven cars out of the race.

Tony Hulman, Indianaplis Motor Speedway president, reminded the fastest drivers in the track's 55-year history of the consequences of a rash move when the 33 starters are still bunched, full of fuel and pulling one another around the track in a vacuum.

Chief Steward Harlan Fengler said there would be no excise for driving over 125 m.p.h. under the yellow light which flashes after an accident.

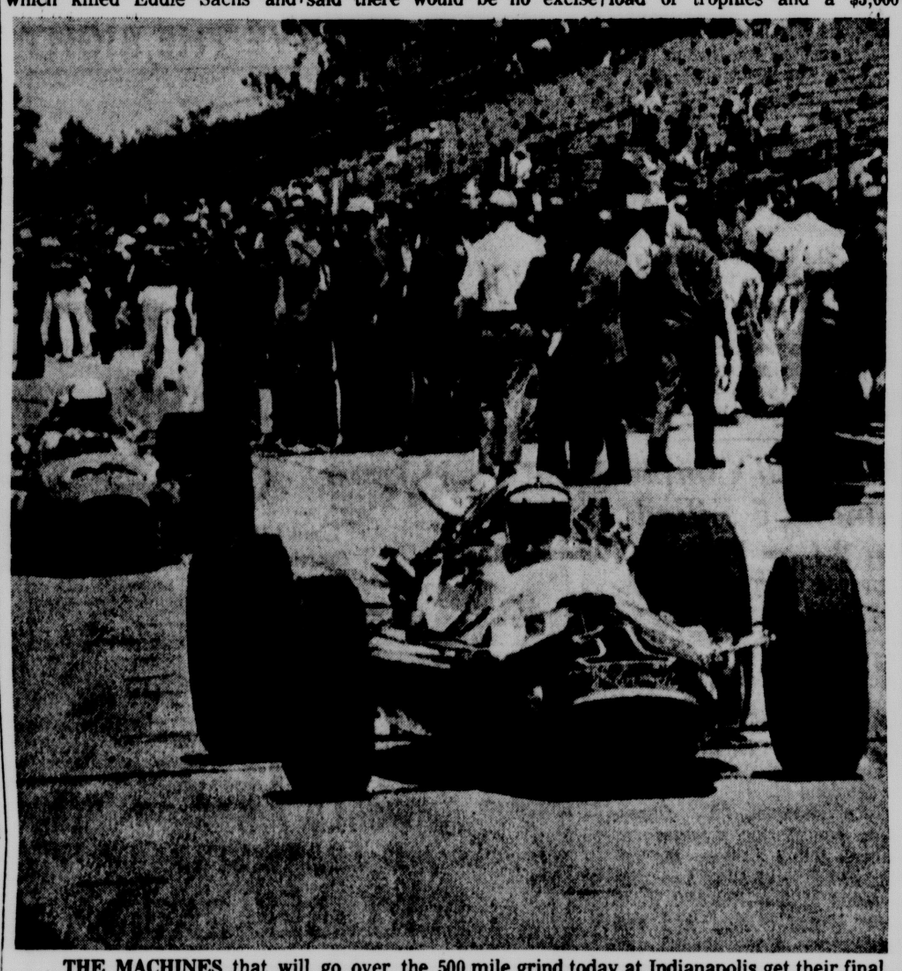
The drivers' instruction meeting, followed by a special session for the 11 rookies, concluded 30 days of preliminaries to the $500,000 race.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, last year's winner and setter of a track record of 161.233 m.p.h. in the trials, picked up a wagon load of trophies and a $3,000 check from the Humble Oil & Refining Co. He even received a Firestone trophy, although he was running on Goodyear tires.

There were some special awards for the pole position mechanic but Foyt's, George Bignotti, missed the meeting. Foyt explained some problems developed in final carburetion tests Saturday and Bignotti was still hard on work on their Lotus-Ford.

Seven drivers approved Sunday for relief roles included Rodger Ward, two-time winner of the 500 who failed to qualify this year. Very few drivers have required relief in recent years because of better ventilated cockpits and none may be used in relatively cool weather forecast for Monday.

The crowd, which may reach 300,000, already was beginning to swarm outside speedway gates Sunday.



THE MACHINES that will go over the 500 mile grind today at Indianapolis get their final test as A. J. Foyt, front, record qualifier and pole position holder, leads Jerry Grant out of the pits in a final check of their cars. (UPI Telephoto)

Communist China Claims 7-Foot Jump

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China claimed Sunday its high jump champion, who underwent an ankle operation earlier this year, cleared 7.28 feet at a meet in Peking Saturday.

Peking's New China News Agency said the jump by Ni Chih-chin was the third highest in the world.

It said only world record holder Valerie Brumel of the Soviet Union, who has jumped 7.5 feet and John Thomas of the United States, who has cleared 7.3 feet, have jumped higher.

King George V of England died Jan. 20, 1936, on his estate in Sandringham at the age of 70.

On March 10, 1935, Hitler rejected the Versailles Treaty and ordered conscription in Germany.

Boston Sets New Broad Jump Mark

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Ralph Boston thinks before he leaps and has a pending world record to prove it.

At Saturday night's California Relays, the wind was intermittent. The 26-year-old Boston had just one jump left in his bid to beat his own world record of 27 feet, 4¼ inches.

So he had fellow jumper Gayle Hopkins watch the machine measuring wind velocity. At an instant it showed no wind, Boston took off and had calm sailing on a record jump of 27-5.

Aiding wind of more than 4½ miles per hour nullifies a record performance. Boston has had it happen to him. Even some efforts Saturday night had too much wind.

Pfc Art Walker of Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., for instance, won the triple jump at 54-3½ when the wind blew 5.1 m.p.h.

Boston's jump brought the meet's second world record for a veteran Olympian. Hal Connolly had hurled the hammer 233 feet, two inches to beat his own mark of 231-10.

The crowd at Modesto Junior College stadium cheered miler Jim Ryun of Wichita, Kan., and John Garrison of Los Angeles; hurdler Richmond Flowers Jr. of Montgomery, Ala., and the four members of Southern University's mile relay team — three freshmen and a junior.

The Southern foursome equalled the mile relay world record at 3:04.5.

On Southern's team, a group which defied the NCAA ban against competing in the AAU sanctioned relays, were Robert Johnson, leading off with 47.7 for his quarter; Anthony Gates, 46.2; Everett Mason 46.0, and Theron Lewis 44.9. Lewis is a junior.

Ryun, who graduates from East High in Wichita this week, won the mile over a veteran field in 3:58.1. Yet, he just did outlast the surprising rush of 21-year-old Garrison who finished inches behind.

Garrison attended San Jose State, quit after his sophomore year in 1964, and had not run the mile in less than 4:10.

Flowers, who just this season set a prep high hurdles record of 13.5, ran his fifth competitive race ove regulation highs. He won in 13.9.

Post 374 Divides Pair With Salem

American Legion Post 374 split in its season's debut by losing the first game of a doubleheader, 2-0 to Salem but came back in the nightcap for a 6-0 win on the two-hit pitching of Rich Whittington.

Four errors in the first game led to East Liverpool's defeat as Bill Wright was the losing hurler although he only gave up five hits and fanned eight batters.

Salem scored a single run in the second and one in the fifth for the victor. Begala's triple was the big hit for Salem.

East Liverpool bounced back in the second game to score twice in the second and fourth innings to build up a comfortable lead for Whittington who struck out five batters.

Whittington allowed Salem a triple and single while Post 374 was taking advantage of six Salem errors.

Mike Silliman and Joe Massey collected two hits each while Jerry Vaughn, Nick Marchbanks and Massey drove in one run each. Marchbanks and Massey belted doubles.

The local Legion nine was scheduled to play at Carrollton today at 2 p. m.

Dressen Returns To Detroit Helm

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers Manager Charlie Dressen will return to the helm in New York Monday and promises there will only be a few minor changes in the operation of the team.

The Tigers have been managed by coach Bob Swift since Dressen suffered a minor heart attack in spring training at Lakeland, Fla., last March 8.

"I was going to come back a week ago, but the doctor advised me to wait a while longer," Dressen said Sunday.

Friend, Law Hurl Complete Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates extended their winning streak to 10 games Sunday, clobbering the New York Mets 9-1 and 12-0 behind the senior members of their pitching staff, Bob Friend and Vernon Law.

The streak, coming after an eight-game losing string, equals the longest in the majors this year. Houston also won 10 in a row.

Friend, in his 15th year with the Pirates, stopped the Mets on five hits in the opener. he struck out four and didn't walk a man, evening his record at 3-3.

Law, a 14-year veteran, blanked New York on six hits while striking out seven and walking none for his second victory against five defeats.

Friend retired the first 12 Mets before Ed Kranepool singled, leading off the fifth inning. Kranepool went to second on a ground out and scored on Joe Christopher's single, tying the game 1-1.

The Pirates snapped the deadlock in the sixth, scoring two runs with the help of two errors by shortstop Roy McMillan and one by center fielder Johnny Lewis.

The Pirates backed Law in the nightcap with home runs by Gene Alley with one on, Jim Pagliaroni with two on and Willie Stargell and Bob Bailey, each with the bases empty.

Roberto Clemente rapped four hits in nine at-bats in the doubleheader, giving him a total of 11 for 19 and raising his average 37 points to .308 in the four-game series.

The Pirates, five percentage points behind the Mets in last place in the National League, when the series started, left four games ahead of them.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ernie Banks hammered three hits, including his 10th home run, and drove in two runs, leading the Chicago Cubs to a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

Lefty Dick Ellsworth earned his sixth triumph against three losses, limiting the Phillies to seven hits. A three-run sixth inning against Philly starter Ray Herbert and reliever Jack Baldschun snapped a three-game Chicago losing streak.

Billy Williams singled with one out, went to third on Ron Santo's single and scored on Banks' single to center. Santo took third from where he came home on a force play. A wild pitch and sacrifice fly allowed Banks to come home.

Banks hit a home run in the second inning, giving the Cubs a 1-0 lead. The Phils tied the score in the third on a walk, a single by Cookie Rojas and an error by Banks as he charged John Callison's sharp grounder.

Braves End Astros' Winning String At 4

HOUSTON (AP) — Hank Aaron's two-run homer and bases-empty shots by Felipe Alou and Mack Jones powered Milwaukee to a 6-5 victory over Houston Sunday and ended the Astros' winning streak at four.

The largest afternoon crowd in Houston history, 38,734, watched the Braves shell four Houston pitcher for 13 hits, six for extra bases. Larry Dierker, an 18-year-old rookie making his third start, suffered his second defeat against one victory.

Alou connected leading off the fifth inning, and after Ed Mathews singled, Aaron hit his sixth homer of the season pulling the Braves out front 5-3.

The Astros had pulled ahead in the fourth when Joe Gaines singled to left with two men on and the ball got by Rico Carty, allowing all three runners to score.

Wade Blasingame got the victory, his fifth against four losses, but needed Billy O'Dell's one-hit relief help over the final 3 1-3 innings.

O'Dell allowed the hit in the ninth when Joe Morgan singled home Ron Brand. O'Dell then got former teammate Lee Maye on a grounder to end the game.

Skinner's Muff Gives Giants 3-2 Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Skinner dropped a high fly by pinch hitter Willie Mays with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning, letting Frank Linzy score with the winning run as the San Francisco Giants edged St. Louis 3-2 Sunday.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Giants and also extended the Cardinals' losing streak to four.

Cardinal ace Bob Gibson, now 8-2, took a four-hitter into the 10th but Hal Lanier's and Dick Schofield's singles and an intentional walk to Willie McCovey filled the bases with two out. Manager Herman Franks sent Mays to bat for Jim Hart. Willie had been kept out of the starting lineup because of a heavy cold and high fever.

Matty Alou had bailed the Giants out of a jam in the top of the 10th with a sensational running catch of a 400-foot drive by Tim McCarver. There were two on base at the time.

The Cardinals had tied the score 2-2 with an eighth inning run as Curt Flood singled, stole second, took third on a grounder and scored on McCarver's sacrifice fly.

Koufax' strikeouts increased his career total to 1,802, one more than teammate Don Drysdale reached Saturday.

Koufax coasted to his seventh victory against three defeats.

A sixth-inning error by Jim LeFebvre and a collision between Dodger outfielders Al Ferrara and Lou Johnson helped Cincinnati scored four runs, three of them unearned.

The Dodgers pounded four Cincinnati pitchers for 13 hits, handing the Reds their fifth straight defeat.

John Roseboro drove in three runs with three singles. Maury Wills and Ron Fairly each knocked in two runs with a single and double while Dick Tracewski contributed a two-run single and Wes Parker a two-run triple.

Colavito Knocks In 5 Runs, Tribe Blasts Tigers, 10-2

Yanks End Slump Nip Sox In 12th

DETROIT (AP) — Rocky Colavito's four hits and five runs batted in, three of them on a home run in the fifth inning, sparked the Cleveland Indians to a 10-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers Sunday.

The Indians chased Tiger starter Phil Regan in the fourth inning when the first four batters hit singles. Joe Azcue singled home two runs off reliever Jack Hamilton, capping the four-run inning.

The runs were the first after 24 scoreless innings for the Indians, who had dropped two-hit 1-0 decisions to the Tigers in the first two games of the series. The loss ended Detroit's five game winning streak.

Willie Horton's two-run homer in the second inning, his 10th of the season, gave the Tigers a brief lead.

Cleveland pitcher Sam McDowell extended his American League lead in strikeouts to 84. He fanned nine Detroit batters in the first five innings and finished with 13, his high for the season.

Leon Wagner contributed two singles and a triple to the Indians' 16-hit attack.

Barker's Single Wins Contest For Yankees

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray Barker stroked a single to right off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm in the 12th inning, driving in Bobby Richardson with the winning run Sunday as the New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and ended a four-game losing streak.

The loss dropped the White Sox into second place in the American League, one-half game behind Minnesota.

Richardson singled with one out, getting the winning rally started, moved to second when Roger Maris beat out a hit to third and came around on Barker's hit.

The victory went to Steve Mikkelsen, the third Yankee pitcher.

The White Sox had tied the score 2-2 in the eighth after Smoky Burgess doubled with one out for the 100th pinch-hit of his career. Danny Cater's single brought in the run.

Later in the inning, with the bases loaded and two out, Mel Stottlemyre struck out former Yankee Bill Skowron. Stottlemyre had limited the White Sox to three hits going into the eighth.

The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning on Mickey Mantle's eighth homer, but the White Sox' Pete Ward connected in the same inning with his fourth homer.

The Yankees moved back out front in the fifth against Gary Peters on singles by Clete Boyer and Doc Edwards, a sacrifice by Stottlemyre and Phil Linz' single.

Kansas City Pitcher Lets In Winning Run

BOSTON (AP) — Kansas City's John Wyatt walked Lenny Green with two out and the bases loaded in the 11th inning, forcing the winning run for a 3-2 Boston victory Sunday behind the clutch relief pitching of Dick Radatz.

Radatz produced the only hit of the inning, a single, following Wyatt's two-out walk to Ed Bressoud. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch before Wyatt walked Mike Ryan, loading the bases, and then Green.

Radatz made his fourth straight relief appearance for Boston, coming on in the 10th inning. He pitched 1 2-3 innings, squaring his record at 3-3 while giving up two hits and striking out three.

In those four games, Radatz has allowed four hits and struck out 16 in seven innings.

Roland Sheldon, trying to stretch his unbeaten mastery over Boston to seven straight, saw a 2-1 lead erased with one out in the ninth inning when Tony Conigliaro smashed his 10th homer into the center field screen.

Until then, Sheldon had held the Red Sox to five hits and had retired 20 of the last 22 batters.

Boston scored in the first inning on a walk, an error and Lee Thomas's single. Kansas City came back for two in the second when Bill Monbouquette walked Mike Hershberger with two out and Bill Ryan followed with his fifth homer.

Orioles Sneak Past Angels On Adair's Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jerry Adair's seventh-inning single, following an intentional walk to Boog Powell, drove in the winning run Sunday as the Baltimore Orioles edged the Los Angeles Angels 4-3.

John Orsino, who homered for the first Baltimore run in the second inning, opened the seventh with a single off relief pitcher Ron Piche.

Orsino was sacrificed to second and pinch hitter Powell was walked. Adair then slapped a 3-2 pitch to left, scoring Orsino.

A run-scoring double by Jim Fregosi had tied the score 3-3 in the top of the seventh before Stu Miller cut short the Angels' rally with his 14th consecutive scoreless relief appearance.

Miller walked Willie Smith intentionally, loading the bases after replacing starter Wally Bunker with one out. Miller then retired Costen Shockley on a foul pop and Bob Rodgers on a liner to second baseman Adair.

Dunbar Misses 3rd Title

Glenville Is State Track Champ; Central Nine Falls

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Records crumbled and surprises were plentiful as Ohio's scholastic stars closed out their four-sport spring carnival Saturday.

After the firing was over and the smoke had cleared away, these were the victors:

Track—Class AA, Cleveland Glenville. Class A, Fairport Harbor.

Baseball—Class AA, Shaker Heights. Class A, Versailles of Darke County.

Golf — Team championship, Upper Arlington. Medalist, Yank Heisler of Ravenna.

Tennis—Singles, Chick Hawley of Cincinnati Princeton. Doubles, Fred Carpenter and Lee Adams, Upper Arlington.

Glenville ended Dayton Dunbar's two-year reign as AA kingpins with a mere 15 points, two more than the Dayton squad could muster. Dunbar literally blew two chances to lock up its third straight crown.

In the 100-yard dash, sprint star Bobby James looked like the winner when he suddenly pulled up short because he misjudged the finish line. When he realized his mistake, James burst forward and finished third. That boner cost Dayton three points and the difference between victory and runner-up honors.

Dubar's last chance came in the final event, the mile relay. A third place finish was all that was needed but the Dunbar runners didn't pick up a single point.

Fairport Harbor, with Mike Thomas leading the way, had an easier time winning with 19 points. Batavia was second with 13 and South Charleston Southeastern third with 11.

Thomas, voted the outstanding small school performer, repeated his hurdles victories won a year ago and finished fourth in the broad jump.

Tom Schoenig of Amherst Steele, who set a new standard in the mile run, was named the Class AA performer of the meet.

Eight records in all fell by the wayside, four in each class.

Schoenig ran the mile in 4:18.1 to eclipse the 4:19.6 set last year by Ricky Poole of Dayton Jefferson.

Other AA records:

Dave Foley of Cincinnati Roger Bacon in the shot put—61 feet, 8 3/8 inches; Stanley Albright of Cleveland Glenville in the high jump — six feet, 6½ inches and Cleveland East Tech's mile relay team—3:20.4.

The Class A marks:

Rick Steele of Newton Falls Braceville—13 feet, one inch in the pole vault, his second straight state title; Dale Walker of Bellbrook in the high jump—six feet, five inches; Thomas in the 120-yard high hurdles—14.3 and Jonathan Jones of South Charleston Southeastern in the mile run—4:28.3. Jones was the only other participant besides Thomas to win two events as he scored also in the 880 run.

In baseball, Marty Liff twirled a two-hit shutout in leading Shaker Heights to a 4-0 victory over Steubenville Catholic Central and the Class AA title while Versailles, capitalizing on six Lucasville Valley errors, whipped the Scioto County school, 5-1, for the Class A crown.

Little Yank Heisler of Ravenna copped medalist honors with a 71-75—146, two strokes better than Ross Bartschy Jr., of Upper Arlington, last year's medalist.

And in tennis, the top-ranked players went down to defeat.

Hawley, fourth-seeded, surprised second - seeded Paul Mitchell of Worthington, 6-3, 7-5 after sendcng top-seeded Randy Wertz of Toledo DeVilbiss to the sidelines in semi-final play, 6-4, 6-1.

The doubles team of Fred Carpenter and Lee Adams turned back the bid of Joe Dehner and George Mehl of Cincinnati Withrow, 6-4, 6-3. The latter combo had ousted top-seeded Ron Hollinger and Terry Brown of Mansfield Senior in semifinal action, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Finley Turns In 1-Hitter

Lawyers, Central Claim Openers In Colt League

John Finley's one-hitter gave the Lawyers 6-0 victory over the Realtors and Central Service handed the Dentists an 8-2 defeat on the opening day of the 1965 Colt Legue season Sunday.

Finley tamed the Realtors by allowing only one single and that was by Golden.

Meanwhile, the Lawyers pounded out nine hits off Golden, the losing pitcher, to score in every inning but the second. A. J. Kidder and Andrason came up with three hits each to pace the Lawyers' attack.

Central Service jumped out to a 7-0 lead giving Hall ample working room as he allowed the Dentists four hits.

Central Service collected six hits and took advantage of four errors to post its first victory. Brewer and James hit safely twice for Central. Moore was checked with the pitching loss.

Orioles Sneak Past Angels On Adair's Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jerry Adair's seventh-inning single, following an intentional walk to Boog Powell, drove in the winning run Sunday as the Baltimore Orioles edged the Los Angeles Angels 4-3.

John Orsino, who homered for the first Baltimore run in the second inning, opened the seventh with a single off relief pitcher Ron Piche.

Orsino was sacrificed to second and pinch hitter Powell was walked. Adair then slapped a 3-2 pitch to left, scoring Orsino.

A run-scoring double by Jim Fregosi had tied the score 3-3 in the top of the seventh before Stu Miller cut short the Angels' rally with his 14th consecutive scoreless relief appearance.

Miller walked Willie Smith intentionally, loading the bases after replacing starter Wally Bunker with one out. Miller then retired Costen Shockley on a foul pop and Bob Rodgers on a liner to second baseman Adair.

Dunbar Misses 3rd Title

Glenville Is State Track Champ; Central Nine Falls

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Records crumbled and surprises were plentiful as Ohio's scholastic stars closed out their four-sport spring carnival Saturday.

After the firing was over and the smoke had cleared away, these were the victors:

Track—Class AA, Cleveland Glenville. Class A, Fairport Harbor.

Baseball—Class AA, Shaker Heights. Class A, Versailles of Darke County.

Golf — Team championship, Upper Arlington. Medalist, Yank Heisler of Ravenna.

Tennis—Singles, Chick Hawley of Cincinnati Princeton. Doubles, Fred Carpenter and Lee Adams, Upper Arlington.

Glenville ended Dayton Dunbar's two-year reign as AA kingpins with a mere 15 points, two more than the Dayton squad could muster. Dunbar literally blew two chances to lock up its third straight crown.

In the 100-yard dash, sprint star Bobby James looked like the winner when he suddenly pulled up short because he misjudged the finish line. When he realized his mistake, James burst forward and finished third. That boner cost Dayton three points and the difference between victory and runner-up honors.

Dubar's last chance came in the final event, the mile relay. A third place finish was all that was needed but the Dunbar runners didn't pick up a single point.

Fairport Harbor, with Mike Thomas leading the way, had an easier time winning with 19 points. Batavia was second with 13 and South Charleston Southeastern third with 11.

Thomas, voted the outstanding small school performer, repeated his hurdles victories won a year ago and finished fourth in the broad jump.

Tom Schoenig of Amherst Steele, who set a new standard in the mile run, was named the Class AA performer of the meet.

Eight records in all fell by the wayside, four in each class.

Schoenig ran the mile in 4:18.1 to eclipse the 4:19.6 set last year by Ricky Poole of Dayton Jefferson.

Other AA records:

Dave Foley of Cincinnati Roger Bacon in the shot put—61 feet, 8 ⅜ inches; Stanley Albright of Cleveland Glenville in the high jump — six feet, 6½ inches and Cleveland East Tech's mile relay team—3:20.4.

The Class A marks:

Rick Steele of Newton Falls Braceville—13 feet, one inch in the pole vault, his second straight state title; Dale Walker of Bellbrook in the high jump—six feet, five inches; Thomas in the 120-yard high hurdles—14.3 and Jonathan Jones of South Charleston Southeastern in the mile run—4:28.3. Jones was the only other participant besides Thomas to win two events as he scored also in the 880 run.

In baseball, Marty Liff twirled a two-hit shutout in leading Shaker Heights to a 4-0 victory over Steubenville Catholic Central and the Class AA title while Versailles, capitalizing on six Lucasville Valley errors, whipped the Scioto County school, 5-1, for the Class A crown.

Upper Arlington breezed to the team championship in the golf tournament with a 36-hole score of 624, 20 strokes better than Kettering Fairmont West and Toledo St. Francis.

Little Yank Heisler of Ravenna copped medalist honors with a 71-75—146, two strokes better than Ross Bartschy Jr., of Upper Arlington, last year's medalist.

And in tennis, the top-ranked players went down to defeat.

Hawley, fourth-seeded, surprised second - seeded Paul Mitchell of Worthington, 6-3, 7-5 after sendcng top-seeded Randy Wertz of Toledo DeVilbiss to the sidelines in semi-final play, 6-4, 6-1.

The doubles team of Fred Carpenter and Lee Adams turned back the bid of Joe Dehner and George Mehl of Cincinnati Withrow, 6-4, 6-3. The latter combo had ousted top-seeded Ron Hollinger and Terry Brown of Mansfield Senior in semifinal action, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Finley Turns In 1-Hitter

Lawyers, Central Claim Openers In Colt League

John Finley's one-hitter gave the Lawyers 6-0 victory over the Realtors and Central Service handed the Dentists an 8-2 defeat on the opening day of the 1965 Colt Legue season Sunday.

Finley tamed the Realtors by allowing only one single and that was by Golden.

Meanwhile, the Lawyers pounded out nine hits off Golden, the losing pitcher, to score in every inning but the second. A. J. Kidder and Andrason came up with three hits each to pace the Lawyers' attack.

Central Service jumped out to a 7-0 lead giving Hall ample working room as he allowed the Dentists four hits.

Central Service collected six hits and took advantage of four errors to post its first victory. Brewer and James hit safely twice for Central. Moore was checked with the pitching loss.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Newcomer To Peyton Place

Peyton Place is quite a real place, if you're one of the actors in the ABC-TV series. Gail Kobe, who just moved in a few weeks ago as Dor is Schuster, the ambitious wife of the new manager for the mill, found herself the object of as much curiosity and attention as any new neighbor would in a real-life situation. In any "continuing drama," as the producers prefer to call soap operas, the actors never know how "continuing" their particular roles may be.

Hal Humphrey

-:-

"IF A SNEEZE is written into your part," says Gail, "you wonder if it's going to lead to a fatal case of pneumonia and you're being written out of the show.

"The other day I was walking in the Peyton Place street and Ed Nelson, who plays Dr. Rossi, yelled at me, 'Stay on the sidewalk or they'll hit you with a car!' He was kidding—I think," Gail adds, laughing.

When newcomers arrive, like Gail and Bill Smithers who plays husband David Schuster, the regulars naturally see a possible threat to their own security.

Before Gail and Smithers filmed the episode in which they took over the Harrington house, Paul Langdon (the actor who plays Leslie Harrington, the former mill manager) was strolling through the rooms and casually remarked to Gail, "This is a pretty nice house."

-:-

"I REALIZED," says Gail now, "that he'd taken a rather proprietary claim on it and was sorry to be leaving it. I can tell you that I felt better when I saw the studio carpenter putting the Schuster name plate by the front door."

To avoid any emotional uprisings, the producers and directors never discuss with the principals whether they are to be in the next dozen episodes.

Gail says that when Tim O'Connor, who plays Elliot Carson, was lying in an oxygen tent in one episode, everybody figured the writers were about to give him the old heave-ho. But he survived to marry Constance Mackenzie (Dorothy Malone) and also managed to get back safely from a honeymoon trip.

-:-

ON MOTHER'S Day a few weeks ago, Gail got a phone call from Kimberley Beck, the little 8 - year - old who plays Gail's deaf daughter.

"Hi, Gail" she said "this is your daughter."

Maybe the kid was afraid she'd be sent back to New York to a school for the deaf and thought it wouldn't hurt to pass on a Mother's Day greeting to her Peyton Place mom.

Gail, who has been at the acting game for some time, does not consider Peyton Place a soap opera (apparently none of the cast does), nor is the show the slightest bit dull to work as she had anticipated it might be.

-:-

"I'M A serious actress, and these are not phony problems you encounter," she maintains. "Here I am with my family and facing a new town and my husband a new job. That's pretty real, isn't it?"

In the next few weeks Allison Mackenzie will enter the Schuster household and the heart of the deaf little Kim. Doris (that's Gail) will resent this and become jealous. There is even a hint of romance coming up between Doris and a young attorney.

Gail and the other actors in Peyton Place get their scripts for the following week on Fridays, and she admits to being caught up in the thing now to a point where she hardly can wait to see each script.

-:-

WITH HER large brown eyes, Gail is a perfect type for Peyton Place, where much of the action is encompassed in long knowing looks passing between the characters while the theme music underlines each look.

If Leslie Harrington ever does get back to Peyton Place and wants his house back, neither Gail nor her Doris Schuster alter-ego is going to give it up easily.

"I caught myself turning to one of the crew the other day and asking, "Where's our other silver service?' You'd have thought I had been living there for years," says Gail, shaking her head.

Play Was Brilliant But Too Frightening

ROMFORD, England (AP) — Ten schoolchildren have written a play for television that was regarded as brilliant, but rejected as too frightening.

The children, pupils at Harold Hill Grammar School at Essex, range in age from 11 to 18.

They entered a contest for young people sponsored by Independent Commercial Television whose spokesman said: "We thought the play absolutely brilliant, but it was not a suitable subject to put on for children at 5:25 p.m."

So the pupils are going to make their own film of the play, "Doll Without Eyes," which tells the story of a tramp who befriends a little girl and helps her find her doll. Then he turns on the girl, smashes the doll in a rage and then murders the girl.

Bringing Up A Family

Walking Good For Parent And Child

It can be a delightful experience for a father or mother to go walking with the tot from 2 to 6. It affords good exercise for both child and parent. They may walk together with pleasure whether in a city or in an open country place. They may enjoy this pasttime whether they live in a single home or in a huge apartment. For profitable walking out in an open place or on the pavement the child needs to have learned certain reasonable regulations for safety and good citizenship.

Dr. Garry Myers

As a rule, he needs to keep rather close to the parent.

Moreover, when a parent and a child are near each other they can talk. One of the greatest values of walking is in conversation. When a child can ask many questions about things he hears and sees and have these questions answered kindly by his parent a wonderful bond is formed.

WHILE walking on the sidewalk in a village, town or city, the tot may want to go up and down steps or walk along ledges, or explore many places on the way. In doing this he may gain many skills. He discovers much information, besides enjoyment from such freedoms.

But he may face hazards and not learn the first principles of regard for the rights and possessions of other persons nor the places he explores. He may be too far from his parent to converse. Besides, the parent may grow bored at waiting so often for him to keep up.

When, however, they are walking through a large park or in an open field or wood, these problems may not be so serious. So we need to prepare the tot in the house in certain basic inhibitions and regulations in order to get hm ready to go walking with us enjoyably.

WITH THE tot two or three it may be desirable to have him in "harness" with lines attached to us. Even more so if we are then pushing a baby in a carriage.

But if he is well-trained indoors in conforming to certain requirements, an invisible leash should prove effective. Whenever we walk with a tot we should not hurry. We should remember that his legs are short in comparison with ours. It may be painfully hard for him to keep up even while holding our hand.

We should not plan to go too far. On our return he may be so tired as to beg us to carry him, in which case we may grow annoyed at each other instead of being companionable.

MANY A grandparent should go walking with the tot; so should the baby-sitter occasionally during daytime. The outdoor exercise should prove profitable for all participating. The youngster thus may use up some of his excess energy.

Walking is especially useful to the young child who does not have wide-open spaces for running and playing freely with other children. The child who has no appetite for breakfast may eat enjoyably after a walk around a block or two.

Why do we so rarely see children on a walk with an older person? Every parent of a child under six, especially in urban homes, should make sure this youngster has ample fun at walking with a companionable older person.

2 Southern Governors Say They Dont' Need Vote Bill

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two Southern governors said Sunday a federal voting rights bill is not necessary in their states.

"Last year we passed a completely new election code," Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia said. "Since that time, we have had not one complaint from any civil rights organization or any citizen in Georgia. So we don't think it is needed in our state."

Gov. John J. McKeithen said many parishes — counties — in Louisiana will be exempt under the law pending in Congress and that "in most areas of our state our colored citizens are allowed to vote now."

McKeithen said he does not think voting rights legislation would affect Louisiana too much.

"When you find an influx of illiterate colored citizens coming in to vote, you are going to find a proportionately larger influx of illiterate white citizens coming up to vote, and I think the percentage of white registered voters over colored registered voters will not be affected a great deal in our state."

The two governors gave their views on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program, which was taped here Friday for broadcast Sunday.

Both governors criticized the proposed voting rights bill. McKeithen said many attorneys think it is unconstitutional. Sanders termed it unfair, the Georgia governor said.

Both governors said they are against forced integration of the races but that equal opportunity should be provided.

McKeithen said it has been proven both races prefer segregation and cited Louisiana State University as an example.

He said the school, located in Baton Rouge, has been integrated for several years but there are still only 40 Negro students out of 12,000 enrolled on the main campus.

In northern Baton Rouge, where the state Negro university is located, he said "it is literally bursting at the seams with colored students and colored applicants."

There's Run On False Eyelashes At Beauty Event

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There's been a run on false eyelashes at the Miss U.S.A. pageant beauty shop. Only one brown pair left.

Word leaked out that last year's Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe won their titles wearing them, and most of the 49 hopefuls in this week's pageant have added eyelashes to their makeup kit.

Experienced beauty winners say false eyelashes make you look more appealing to the judges.

"Real mink. Aren't they beautiful. Feel them," said Miss Alabama, dark-haired Leigh Stanford of Montgomery.

"Bobbi Johnson — reigning Miss U.S.A. — wears them all the time, haven't you noticed," said Miss Tennessee, 120-pound, hazel-eyed Bonnie Perkins of Memphis.

Something else added — or rather subtracted — in this year's contest, to be decided June 4; Swimming suits with built-in bras are forbidden.

Pads also are definitely out.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Newcomer To Peyton Place

Peyton Place is quite a real place, if you're one of the actors in the ABC-TV series. Gail Kobe, who just moved in a few weeks ago as Doris Schuster, the ambitious wife of the new manager for the mill, found herself the object of as much curiosity and attention as any new neighbor would in a real-life situation. In any "continuing drama," as the producers prefer to call soap operas, the actors never know how "continuing" their particular roles may be.

Hal Humphrey

-:-

"IF A SNEEZE is written into your part," says Gail, "you wonder if it's going to lead to a fatal case of pneumonia and you're being written out of the show.

"The other day I was walking in the Peyton Place street and Ed Nelson, who plays Dr. Rossi, yelled at me, 'Stay on the sidewalk or they'll hit you with a car!' He was kidding—I think," Gail adds, laughing.

When newcomers arrive, like Gail and Bill Smithers who plays husband David Schuster, the regulars naturally see a possible threat to their own security.

Before Gail and Smithers filmed the episode in which they took over the Harrington house, Paul Langdon (the actor who plays Leslie Harrington, the former mill manager) was strolling through the rooms and casually remarked to Gail, "This is a pretty nice house."

-:-

"I REALIZED," says Gail now, "that he'd taken a rather proprietary claim on it and was sorry to be leaving it. I can tell you that I felt better when I saw the studio carpenter putting the Schuster name plate by the front door."

To avoid any emotional uprisings, the producers and directors never discuss with the principals whether they are to be in the next dozen episodes.

Gail says that when Tim O'Connor, who plays Elliot Carson, was lying in an oxygen tent in one episode, everybody figured the writers were about to give him the old heave-ho. But he survived to marry Constance Mackenzie (Dorothy Malone) and also managed to get back safely from a honeymoon trip.

-:-

ON MOTHER'S Day a few weeks ago, Gail got a phone call from Kimberley Beck, the little 8 - year - old who plays Gail's deaf daughter.

"Hi, Gail" she said "this is your daughter."

Maybe the kid was afraid she'd be sent back to New York to a school for the deaf and thought it wouldn't hurt to pass on a Mother's Day greeting to her Peyton Place mom.

Gail, who has been at the acting game for some time, does not consider Peyton Place a soap opera (apparently none of the cast does), nor is the show the slightest bit dull to work as she had anticipated it might be.

-:-

"I'M A serious actress, and these are not phony problems you encounter," she maintains. "Here I am with my family and facing a new town and my husband a new job. That's pretty real, isn't it?"

In the next few weeks Allison Mackenzie will enter the Schuster household and the heart of the deaf little Kim. Doris (that's Gail) will resent this and become jealous. There is even a hint of romance coming up between Doris and a young attorney.

Gail and the other actors in Peyton Place get their scripts for the following week on Fridays, and she admits to being caught up in the thing now to a point where she hardly can wait to see each script.

-:-

WITH HER large brown eyes, Gail is a perfect type for Peyton Place, where much of the action is encompassed in long knowing looks passing between the characters while the theme music underlines each look.

If Leslie Harrington ever does get back to Peyton Place and wants his house back, neither Gail nor her Doris Schuster alter-ego is going to give it up easily.

"I caught myself turning to one of the crew the other day and asking, "Where's our other silver service?' You'd have thought I had been living there for years," says Gail, shaking her head.

Play Was Brilliant But Too Frightening

ROMFORD, England (AP) — Ten schoolchildren have written a play for television that was regarded as brilliant, but rejected as too frightening.

The children, pupils at Harold Hill Grammar School at Essex, range in age from 11 to 18.

They entered a contest for young people sponsored by Independent Commercial Television whose spokesman said: "We thought the play absolutely brilliant, but it was not a suitable subject to put on for children at 5:25 p.m."

So the pupils are going to make their own film of the play, "Doll Without Eyes," which tells the story of a tramp who befriends a little girl and helps her find her doll. Then he turns on the girl, smashes the doll in a rage and then murders the girl.

Walking Good For Parent And Child

It can be a delightful experience for a father or mother to go walking with the tot from 2 to 6. It affords good exercise for both child and parent. They may walk together with pleasure whether in a city or in an open country place. They may enjoy this pasttime whether they live in a single home or in a huge apartment. For profitable walking out in an open place or on the pavement the child needs to have learned certain reasonable regulations for safety and good citizenship.

Whereas, The City of East Liverpool has heretofore issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 52, 1963 and now has outstanding an issue of Street Improvement Notes (St. Clair Avenue) in the aggregate amount of $348,393 dated May 28, 1964, and maturing by their terms on May 28, 1965, with interest being payable thereon at maturity at the rate of three per centum per annum, which notes were issued in anticipation of the issuance of bonds and the levy and collection of special assessments to pay the property owners' portion and the City's portion of the cost of improving St. Clair Avenue between certain termini, in cooperation with the State of Ohio, by grading, paving and otherwise improving the same; and

WHEREAS, by reason of delays in the completion of such improvement and the levy of assessments therefor, it will be impossible to issue the bonds anticipated by said notes in sufficient time to retire the same at their maturity; and

WHEREAS, the holders of said notes have offered to the City an extention of the maturity thereof, and in order to avoid default on said outstanding notes at their maturity and thereby to preserve the credit of the City, this Council deems it essential to accept and agree to the terms of such offer of extension of maturity;

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO:

SECTION 1. That for the period of two (2) years from and after the effective date of this ordinance, the maximum price which The Ohio Valley Gas Company, its successors or assigns, shall be permitted to charge for and the minimum price at which it or they shall be required to furnish natural gas to the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and to its inhabitants, shall be and the same is hereby fixed for each individual consumer, as follows:

A Minimum Charge for each customer each month of Two Dollars and Sixty-Five Cents ($2.65) shall be made. If service under this rate schedule is discontinued at the request of customer, The Company shall not be under any obligation to resume service to the same customer on the same premises until the customer has made payment of an amount equal to the minimum monthly charge for each month of the intervening period, but not to exceed twelve (12) months.

FUEL COST CLAUSE

The service rates prescribed above are subject to an adjustment for any change in the rates paid by The Ohio Valley Gas Company (Company) to The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company (Manufacturers) for the purchase of natural gas or for any refund or refunds received from Manufacturers, as hereinafter provided. Manufacturers' rates to the Company are regulated by the Federal Power Commission.

The service rates prescribed above are predicted upon the rate paid by the Company to Manufacturers of $2.70 per month per one thousand (1000) cubic feet of Billing Demand and 35.24c per one thousand (1000) cubic feet for all gas purchased and are hereinafter referred to as the "base rate".

A. Purchased Gas Adjustment

When any change is made in the rate paid by the Company to Manufacturers, the service rates herein shall be increased or decreased in the following manner:

(1) Gas purchased by the Company during the twelve (12) month period ended with the second month preceding the month in which a new rate of Manufacturers is first used in computing the monthly bill to the Company shall be priced:

(a) at the base rate, and

(b) at the new rate.

The difference in the cost of gas purchased computed at the base rate and at the new rate in the manner set forth above, shall be divided by the volume of gas purchased by the Company during the same twelve (12) month period to determine the increase or decrease per one thousand (1000) cubic feet, to the nearest one-hundredth of a cent, which shall be the "purchased gas adjustment".

(2) The service rates shall be increased or decreased by the amount of the purchased gas adjustment as determined in paragraph A (1), effective with bills rendered on and after the 30th day (the effective date) following the date on which a new rate of Manufacturers is first used in computing the monthly bill to the Company; provided that the Company shall have filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Clerk of Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the effective date, a computation in support of said purchased gas adjustment, together with a notice that such purchased gas adjustment is to be placed in effect at 12:01 A.M. on the effective date and shall apply to all bills rendered on and after that date.

B. Refund Adjustment

Whenever, during a quarterly period ending each March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31, subsequent to the effective date of this fuel cost clause, the Company received as refund or refunds from Manufacturers, the Company shall decrease the service rates in the following manner:

(1) Dividing such refund or refunds by the actual volumes of gas purchased during the twelve month period ending with the quarter in which the refund or refunds were received. The quotient so determined to the nearest one-hundredth of a cent shall be the "refund adjustment".

(2) The service rates which would otherwise be in effect shall be decreased for a twelve month period commencing on the first day of the third month after the quarterly period in which the refund or refunds were received. The refund adjustment shall terminate at the end of said twelve months.

(3) The Company shall file with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Clerk of Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, thirty (30) days prior to the effective date a computation in support of said refund adjustment together with a notice that the refund adjustment will be placed in effect as of 12:01 A.M. on the effective date and shall apply to all bills rendered on and after that date for a twelve month period. Such filing shall also set forth the combined effect of the current purchased gas adjustment and the refund adjustments determined as herein provided for the next four (4) quarterly periods.

(4) When a refund or refunds have been used as a credit to the gas purchased costs under the Company's former fuel cost clause but not for twelve (12) months, the Company shall determine a refund adjustment for such refund or refunds in the same manner as prescribed in paragraph B (1). Said refund adjustment will be applied to the service rates which would otherwise be in effect for the period remaining under the Company's former fuel cost clause. The Company shall file a computation with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Clerk of Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, in support of any refund adjustment determined under this paragraph.

SECTION 2. That it is expressly conditioned the service to be rendered by said Company, its successors or assigns, pursuant to this ordinance, shall be primarily for domestic and commercial purposes and that service shall not be extended to other consumers of different classes until after all reasonable requirements for domestic and commercial purposes are full met, and this provision shall be binding upon said Company, its successors or assigns, during each month of each year; but during any month or year, subject to the foregoing limitations and after compliance with the foregoing provisions gas may be delivered to any other consumer and additional classes of consumers at such times and under such conditions and for such rates as may be agreed upon between the Company and such consumer or consumers.

SECTION 3. That Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8, 1963 passed by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio on the 18th day of March, 1963, entitled: "Ordinance No. 8, 1963 — An Ordinance granting to the Ohio Valley Gas Company, its successors or assigns, the privilege to install, construct, operate and maintain all necessary pipe lines and other equipment in and on the streets, lands, avenues, alleys, bridges and public grounds in the City of East Liverpool, Ohio for the purpose of producing, storing, conveying selling and supplying natural gas to the citizens thereof for a period of Fifteen (15) Years from and after the effective date of this ordinance; and fixing and regulating the price that may be charged by The Ohio Valley Gas Company, its successors or assigns, for natural gas to the City of East Liverpool, Ohio and to its inhabitants, for the period of Four (4) Years from and after the effective date of this ordinance;" be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 4. The terms and conditions of the service to be rendered shall conform with and be subject to the Rules and Regulations for furnishing gas service to the Company on file with and approved by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

SECTION 5. That the natural gas furnished or delivered pursuant to the terms of this ordinance, by the said Company, shall have an average heating value of 1,000 British thermal units per cubic foot for any consecutive twelve (12) month period subject to a variance of not more than five (5) percent upward or downward.

SECTION 6. In the event the State of Ohio or the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, should hereafter impose a tax upon Ohio Valley, that is not now imposed, or should hereafter increase the rate of any tax now imposed upon Ohio Valley above the tax rate now existing, other than the rate on property listed in the real estate tax list and duplicate, then the rates prescribed in Section 1 shall be increased to the extent necessary to compensate Ohio Valley for the increase in cost due to such new tax or higher tax rate. This shall be done in the following manner:

(a) If the new tax or higher tax rate is computed in direct relation to gas sold or revenues received for the sale of gas, the rates set forth herein shall be adjusted to the extent necessary to recompense the Company for the amount thereof.

(b) If the new tax or higher tax rate is not related directly to gas sold or to revenues received for the sale of gas, then the total dollar effect thereof upon the cost of serving gas by Ohio Valley in the City shall be determined, based upon operations of Ohio Valley in the City during the most recently available twelve months period ending on the last day of the December or June, preceding the effective date of the new tax or higher tax rate; the total dollars so computed shall then be divided by the total sales made to the types of customers covered by this Ordinance during the same twelve months period and the rates prescribed herein shall be correspondingly adjusted.

The adjustment of the rates prescribed in this Ordinance, as provided in subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, shall be made by rounding the mathematical result of the computations so prescribed to the nearest one quarter cent (.25c) per one thousand cubic feet.

The adjusted rate shall be placed in effect and shall apply to all meter readings occurring on and after the effective date of the statute, ordinance or resolution, pursuant to which the new tax or increased tax rate is imposed.

Written notification of the adjustment shall be sent to the Clerk of the City as quickly as possible after the effect of the new tax or higher tax rate can be determined.

SECTION 7. That any ordinance or resolution, or part of any ordinance or resolution, inconsistent herewith, is, to the extent of such inconsistency hereby repealed.

SECTION 8. That should any section or a part of a section or provision of a section of this ordinance be declared void, the remainder of this ordinance shall not be affected thereby.

SECTION 9. That this ordinance shall become effective at the earliest date allowed by law, provided, however, that this ordinance shall have no force or effect whatsoever unless written acceptance of this ordinance is filed by The Ohio Valley Gas Company with the Clerk of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, prior to the expiration of thirty (30) days from the date this ordinance is passed.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE EXTENSION OF THE MATURITY OF AN ISSUE OF STREET IMPROVEMENT NOTES (ST. CLAIR AVENUE) DATED MAY 28, 1964, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

Whereas, The City of East Liverpool has heretofore issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 52, 1963 and now has outstanding an issue of Street Improvement Notes (St. Clair Avenue) in the aggregate amount of $348,393 dated May 28, 1964, and maturing by their terms on May 28, 1965, with interest being payable thereon at maturity at the rate of three per centum per annum, which notes were issued in anticipation of the issuance of bonds and the levy and collection of special assessments to pay the property owners' portion and the City's portion of the cost of improving St. Clair Avenue between certain termini, in cooperation with the State of Ohio, by grading, paving and otherwise improving the same; and

WHEREAS, by reason of delays in the completion of such improvement and the levy of assessments therefor, it will be impossible to issue the bonds anticipated by said notes in sufficient time to retire the same at their maturity; and

WHEREAS, the holders of said notes have offered to the City an extention of the maturity thereof, and in order to avoid default on said outstanding notes at their maturity and thereby to preserve the credit of the City, this Council deems it essential to accept and agree to the terms of such offer of extension of maturity;

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That this Council hereby approved the terms of, and hereby accepts, the offer of the holders of the aforementioned outstanding notes to extend the maturity thereof.

SECTION 2. That the City and its officials shall use their best efforts to complete the proceedings for the authorization, sale and delivery of the bonds anticipated by said notes without delay and within the maturity extension period provided in the aforesaid offer of the holders, to the end that the proceeds of said bonds may be made available at the earliest possible time in order to pay off and retire said outstanding notes and that for the period from May 28, 1965, to such retirement of the notes the City shall pay to the holders thereof interest at the rate of three per centum per annum, such interest to be paid at the same time as the principal of said notes is so paid.

SECTION 3. That the Treasurer shall be and he is hereby authorized and directed promptly upon notification that said outstanding notes have been made available at the offices of the holders, to inspect the same, to endorse on each such note the legend "This note is subject to an extension agreement embodied in Ordinance Number 7 1965 of the City of East Liverpool. Interest has been paid on the note to May 28, 1965", and to pay to the holders of said notes in the appropriate respective amounts the interest accrued thereon to May 28, 1965, at the specified note rate of three per centum per annum. The Treasurer is further authorized and directed to furnish certified copies of this ordinance to said consenting note holders.

SECTION 4. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of said City and for the further reason that, in order to preserve the credit of the City, it is essential to enter into an agreement for extension of maturity of the notes hereinabove referred to; therefore, this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and immediately after its passage and approval by the Mayor.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO:

SECTION 1. That for the period of two (2) years from and after the effective date of this ordinance, the maximum price which The Ohio Valley Gas Company, its successors or assigns, shall be permitted to charge for and the minimum price at which it or they shall be required to furnish natural gas to the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and to its inhabitants, shall be and the same is hereby fixed for each individual consumer, as follows:

Seven and seven hundred twenty-five thousandths Cents (7-725-1000c) per one hundred (100) cubic feet for the next 298,700 cubic feet, used through the meter each month;

Seven and one-tenth Cents (7-1-10c) per one hundred (100) cubic feet for all in excess of 300,000 cubic feet, used through each meter each month;

A Minimum Charge for each customer each month of Two Dollars and Sixty-Five Cents ($2.65) shall be made. If service under this rate schedule is discontinued at the request of customer, The Company shall not be under any obligation to resume service to the same customer on the same premises until the customer has made payment of an amount equal to the minimum monthly charge for each month of the intervening period, but not to exceed twelve (12) months.

FUEL COST CLAUSE

The service rates prescribed above are subject to an adjustment for any change in the rates paid by The Ohio Valley Gas Company (Company) to The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company (Manufacturers) for the purchase of natural gas or for any refund or refunds received from Manufacturers, as hereinafter provided. Manufacturers' rates to the Company are regulated by the Federal Power Commission.

The service rates prescribed above are predicted upon the rate paid by the Company to Manufacturers of $2.70 per month per one thousand (1000) cubic feet of Billing Demand and 35.24c per one thousand (1000) cubic feet for all gas purchased and are hereinafter referred to as the "base rate".

A. Purchased Gas Adjustment

When any change is made in the rate paid by the Company to Manufacturers, the service rates herein shall be increased or decreased in the following manner:

(1) Gas purchased by the Company during the twelve (12) month period ended with the second month preceding the month in which a new rate of Manufacturers is first used in computing the monthly bill to the Company shall be priced:

(a) at the base rate, and

(b) at the new rate.

The difference in the cost of gas purchased computed at the base rate and at the new rate in the manner set forth above, shall be divided by the volume of gas purchased by the Company during the same twelve (12) month period to determine the increase or decrease per one thousand (1000) cubic feet, to the nearest one-hundredth of a cent, which shall be the "purchased gas adjustment".

(2) The service rates shall be increased or decreased by the amount of the purchased gas adjustment as determined in paragraph A (1), effective with bills rendered on and after the 30th day (the effective date) following the date on which a new rate of Manufacturers is first used in computing the monthly bill to the Company; provided that the Company shall have filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Clerk of Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the effective date, a computation in support of said purchased gas adjustment, together with a notice that such purchased gas adjustment is to be placed in effect at 12:01 A.M. on the effective date and shall apply to all bills rendered on and after that date.

B. Refund Adjustment

Whenever, during a quarterly period ending each March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31, subsequent to the effective date of this fuel cost clause, the Company received as refund or refunds from Manufacturers, the Company shall decrease the service rates in the following manner:

(1) Dividing such refund or refunds by the actual volumes of gas purchased during the twelve month period ending with the quarter in which the refund or refunds were received. The quotient so determined to the nearest one-hundredth of a cent shall be the "refund adjustment".

(2) The service rates which would otherwise be in effect shall be decreased for a twelve month period commencing on the first day of the third month after the quarterly period in which the refund or refunds were received. The refund adjustment shall terminate at the end of said twelve months.

(3) The Company shall file with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Clerk of Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, thirty (30) days prior to the effective date a computation in support of said refund adjustment together with a notice that the refund adjustment will be placed in effect as of 12:01 A.M. on the effective date and shall apply to all bills rendered on and after that date for a twelve month period. Such filing shall also set forth the combined effect of the current purchased gas adjustment and the refund adjustments determined as herein provided for the next four (4) quarterly periods.

(4) When a refund or refunds have been used as a credit to the gas purchased costs under the Company's former fuel cost clause but not for twelve (12) months, the Company shall determine a refund adjustment for such refund or refunds in the same manner as prescribed in paragraph B (1). Said refund adjustment will be applied to the service rates which would otherwise be in effect for the period remaining under the Company's former fuel cost clause. The Company shall file a computation with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Clerk of Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, in support of any refund adjustment determined under this paragraph.

SECTION 2. That it is expressly conditioned the service to be rendered by said Company, its successors or assigns, pursuant to this ordinance, shall be primarily for domestic and commercial purposes and that service shall not be extended to other consumers of different classes until after all reasonable requirements for domestic and commercial purposes are full met, and this provision shall be binding upon said Company, its successors or assigns, during each month of each year; but during any month or year, subject to the foregoing limitations and after compliance with the foregoing provisions gas may be delivered to any other consumer and additional classes of consumers at such times and under such conditions and for such rates as may be agreed upon between the Company and such consumer or consumers.

SECTION 3. That Section 5 of Ordinance No. 8, 1963 passed by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio on the 18th day of March, 1963, entitled: "Ordinance No. 8, 1963 — An Ordinance granting to the Ohio Valley Gas Company, its successors or assigns, the privilege to install, construct, operate and maintain all necessary pipe lines and other equipment in and on the streets, lands, avenues, alleys, bridges and public grounds in the City of East Liverpool, Ohio for the purpose of producing, storing, conveying selling and supplying natural gas to the citizens thereof for a period of Fifteen (15) Years from and after the effective date of this ordinance; and fixing and regulating the price that may be charged by The Ohio Valley Gas Company, its successors or assigns, for natural gas to the City of East Liverpool, Ohio and to its inhabitants, for the period of Four (4) Years from and after the effective date of this ordinance;" be and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 4. The terms and conditions of the service to be rendered shall conform with and be subject to the Rules and Regulations for furnishing gas service to the Company on file with and approved by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

SECTION 5. That the natural gas furnished or delivered pursuant to the terms of this ordinance, by the said Company, shall have an average heating value of 1,000 British thermal units per cubic foot for any consecutive twelve (12) month period subject to a variance of not more than five (5) percent upward or downward.

SECTION 6. In the event the State of Ohio or the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, should hereafter impose a tax upon Ohio Valley, that is not now imposed, or should hereafter increase the rate of any tax now imposed upon Ohio Valley above the tax rate now existing, other than the rate on property listed in the real estate tax list and duplicate, then the rates prescribed in Section 1 shall be increased to the extent necessary to compensate Ohio Valley for the increase in cost due to such new tax or higher tax rate. This shall be done in the following manner:

(a) If the new tax or higher tax rate is computed in direct relation to gas sold or revenues received for the sale of gas, the rates set forth herein shall be adjusted to the extent necessary to recompense the Company for the amount thereof.

(b) If the new tax or higher tax rate is not related directly to gas sold or to revenues received for the sale of gas, then the total dollar effect thereof upon the cost of serving gas by Ohio Valley in the City shall be determined, based upon operations of Ohio Valley in the City during the most recently available twelve months period ending on the last day of the December or June, preceding the effective date of the new tax or higher tax rate; the total dollars so computed shall then be divided by the total sales made to the types of customers covered by this Ordinance during the same twelve months period and the rates prescribed herein shall be correspondingly adjusted.

The adjustment of the rates prescribed in this Ordinance, as provided in subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, shall be made by rounding the mathematical result of the computations so prescribed to the nearest one quarter cent (.25c) per one thousand cubic feet.

The adjusted rate shall be placed in effect and shall apply to all meter readings occurring on and after the effective date of the statute, ordinance or resolution, pursuant to which the new tax or increased tax rate is imposed.

Written notification of the adjustment shall be sent to the Clerk of the City as quickly as possible after the effect of the new tax or higher tax rate can be determined.

SECTION 7. That any ordinance or resolution, or part of any ordinance or resolution, inconsistent herewith, is, to the extent of such inconsistency, hereby repealed.

SECTION 8. That should any section or a part of a section or provision of a section of this ordinance be declared void, the remainder of this ordinance shall not be affected thereby.

SECTION 9. That this ordinance shall become effective at the earliest date allowed by law, provided, however, that this ordinance shall have no force or effect whatsoever unless written acceptance of this ordinance is filed by The Ohio Valley Gas Company with the Clerk of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, prior to the expiration of thirty (30) days from the date this ordinance is passed.

Passed this 17th day of May, 1965.

"Run over and get a couple pounds of rice and throw it at us—I forgot to mail the invitations."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean velour and other soft-finish furniture upholstery?

A.—Soap and water for these fabrics are out! Instead, apply dry-cleaning fluid, or carbon tetrachloride, with a piece of cheesecloth, and brush up the nap afterward with a soft brush. Cleaning fluid is also suggested for cretonne, but no brushing is needed.

Q. — What can I do when there is too much polish on my furniture?

A. — Mix ¼-cup of vinegar with ½-cup of water, wring a soft cloth out in this mixture, then rub it over the furniture. Dry immediately with another soft cloth.

Q.—How can I clean badly-soiled bathroom floor tiles?

A.—Wash them with a mixture of one tablespoon of turpentine to a gallon of water.

Q. — How can I make a good adhesive for sticking cut-out gold-paper letters or similar items to glass?

A. — You can improvise a good one by dissolving a few medical capsules in warm water—just enough water to make a thick solution.

Q.—How can I renovate and brighten my black suede shoes?

A.—Try sponging them with some black coffee.

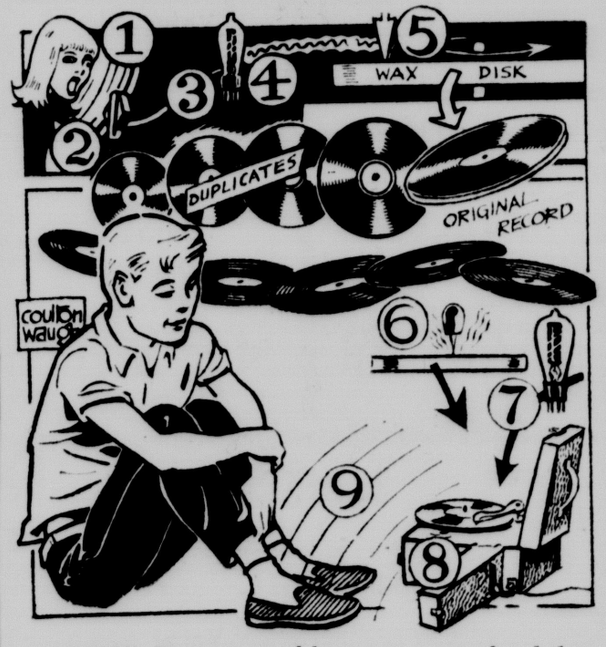
Q.—How can I clean wrought iron fixtures?

A.—By rubbing with a woolen cloth moistened with any thin oil, such as paraffin or kerosene.

Q.—How can I clean discolorations from the inside of a glass coffee percolator tube?

A.—With a pipe cleaner soaked in liquid detergent.

Junior Editors Quiz on RECORDINGS



QUESTION: How can sound be put on a record and then come out of it?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Sounds start by vibrations or sound waves in the air. We don't see sound waves, but our artist has symbolized them by lines (2) being pushed away from the mouth of a singer (1). As these travel into a microphone (3), they are converted into electrical vibrations or signals, which can then move along a wire. Through the use of an amplifying tube (4), these signals are made much stronger. They move to a smaller magnet which sets a cutting needle vibrating (5). As a wax disk revolves below the needle point, the needle cuts grooves into the wax. The various back-and-forth or up-and-down vibrations it makes are registered on the record. A metal form is then made from the wax, and from this thousands of duplicates can be pressed. These are the records you buy. When you start playing one of these, the needle of your machine (6) is set vibrating in exactly the same way the cutting needle vibrated in the first place (5). These pulsations are turned into electrical signals, amplified (7) and made to vibrate a loud speaker (8). Sound waves resulting from this (9) reach your ears and duplicate the singer's voice.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out about the high fidelity system, or Hi-Fi, in which there are two speakers, one of which (the woofer) reproduces low tones and another (the tweeter) the high ones. Then learn what stereophonic recording means.

★ ★ ★

Connie Sue Hill of Alpine, Ala., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Steel Markets Reflect Activity In Viet Nam

CLEVELAND (AP) — Calling attention to the possibility of a sharp stepup in demand for steel on defense account, Steel Magazine said today that military activity in Viet Nam "is already being reflected in steel markets."

It said the government is reportedly receiving more industry requests for help in getting materials on defense account.

"Significant tonnages of steel are already being taken for military construction and more will be needed on equipment account as replacements become necessary," the metalworking weekly journal said.

The magazine said steel production for May is estimated at 11.9 million tons, pushing the total for the first five months this year to a record of about 60 million tons. Output for the first five months of 1964 totaled 51.1 million tons.

Production this week will hold close to last week's 2.7 million ingot tons in spite of the Memorial Day holiday, Steel said. Some operations will be curtailed — those of finishing mills, for example—but melting furnaces will continue to turn out steel because of good order backlogs, it explained.

Steel said that products in the most wanted category—such as plates, galvanized sheets and construction steels—continue on allocation and are expected to remain so throughout the summer.

"Substantial easing in generally tight supply conditions is not anticipated until a labor contract is signed," it added.

"The graceful exit of David J. McDonald from the presidency of the steel union served to clarify the labor situation, but it hasn't eliminated the probability of hard bargaining."

The magazine said that so long as labor uncertainty exists in the steel industry, "steel consumers, particularly large ones like autobuilders, are not likely to allow large holes in their inventories to go unfilled for long."

It added that ordering through out the summer could be fairly steady, with consumers using steel at a fast rate."

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day in my opinion is one of the most significant and beautiful occasion's of the year. It shows the sentiment of the people toward those who gave their lives for a good cause, and it teaches a lesson in patriotism which is without a parallel. Memorial Day cannot be too tenderley revered by old and young, by those who participated in one of the Nation's great struggles, Our Country each year pays greater tribute and respect to the soldier living and dead and we hope it continues in a more expanded form.

Rhodes To Pick Shocknessy As Trustee Of OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes announced Sunday he will nominate Ohio Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy as a member of Ohio State University's board of trustees.

Shocknessy would succeed Smith Rairdon of Toledo, whose term has expired. The appointment, if confirmed by the Ohio Senate, would be for nine years.

A Democrat, Shocknessy already holds one nonpartisan position by virtue of an appointment by the GOP governor. He was named by Rhodes to expedite completion of Interstate 71 from Cleveland to Cincinnati.

John M. McElroy, the governor's top aide, said the new appointment probably will go to the Senate this week.

Steel Markets Reflect Activity In Viet Nam

CLEVELAND (AP) — Calling attention to the possibility of a sharp stepup in demand for steel on defense account, Steel Magazine said today that military activity in Viet Nam "is already being reflected in steel markets."

It said the government is reportedly receiving more industry requests for help in getting materials on defense account.

"Significant tonnages of steel are already being taken for military construction and more will be needed on equipment account as replacements become necessary," the metalworking weekly journal said.

The magazine said steel production for May is estimated at 11.9 million tons, pushing the total for the first five months this year to a record of about 60 million tons. Output for the first five months of 1964 totaled 51.1 million tons.

Production this week will hold close to last week's 2.7 million ingot tons in spite of the Memorial Day holiday, Steel said. Some operations will be curtailed — those of finishing mills, for example—but melting furnaces will continue to turn out steel because of good order backlogs, it explained.

Steel said that products in the most wanted category—such as plates, galvanized sheets and construction steels—continue on allocation and are expected to remain so throughout the summer.

"Substantial easing in generally tight supply conditions is not anticipated until a labor contract is signed," it added.

"The graceful exit of David J. McDonald from the presidency of the steel union served to clarify the labor situation, but it hasn't eliminated the probability of hard bargaining."

The magazine said that so long as labor uncertainty exists in the steel industry, "steel consumers, particularly large ones like autobuilders, are not likely to allow large holes in their inventories to go unfilled for long."

It added that ordering through out the summer could be fairly steady, with consumers using steel at a fast rate."

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day in my opinion is one of the most significant and beautiful occasion's of the year. It shows the sentiment of the people toward those who gave their lives for a good cause, and it teaches a lesson in patriotism which is without a parallel. Memorial Day cannot be too tenderley revered by old and young, by those who participated in one of the Nation's great struggles, Our Country each year pays greater tribute and respect to the soldier living and dead and we hope it continues in a more expanded form.
